Welcome to America

St. Peter's School provides food, supplies to Bosnian refugee family

By MICHAEL H. BABICZ
Community Editor

The spirit of the Statue of Liberty shines in Antioch. St. Peter's Catholic School headed a "Welcome To America!" pack presented to a Bosnian refugee family.

Four car loads of St. Peter's students, parents and St. Peter's Family Association Faith Development Committee members delivered several hundred dollars worth of food, supplies and toys to a family of three in Chicago. The caravan made its way to the one-room studio loft-style apartment the morning of Oct. 12.

The pack is arranged to "set up" the new family in an apartment with everything short of furniture. Upon arrival, the group was greeted by 25-year-old Jasmin Kavkovic, his 23-year-old wife Jasmina, and 4-year-old daughter Melissa.

The family came to the United States through Germany, after having to leave Bosnia. Jasmina Kavkovic's sister and her family, which came to America in 1998, were on hand as well.

'The parents and the students gave us an overwhelming response'

Bo Thompson coordinator of the project

"The apartment has one standup lamp," said Bo Thompson, who coordinated the project for St. Peter's.

The project began following Thompson's receiving a flier from Exodus, a program based in Schaumburg. One of the facets of Exodus is the "Welcome To America!" pack.

The pack includes funds or food for one month and items to set up an apartment. In the St. Peter's case, the students raised over $300 worth of food certificates and actual canned goods and non-perishable items.

The students brought toys for the little girl. Those are in addition to what is asked for in a pack.

"We brought toys, winter coats, boots, shoes and pants for the little girl," explained Thompson. These items were also above and beyond.

Bedding, kitchen and bathroom linens, cooking utensils, pots and pans are among the many items included in the pack.

Thompson contacted Kevin Weslock, Exodus program chairman, to obtain further information on the program and how it works.

At the Sept. 14 parent's night, Thompson spoke to the group explaining what the needs were. "The list was filled that night," said Thompson. "We had people on a waiting list for some items."

"The program was run mainly through the school," Thompson explained. "The parents and the students gave us an overwhelming response."

Student council representatives making the Chicago trip were: Fifth graders Tim Anastos and Bailey Lundman; sixth graders Teddy

Metra line to be expanded

By MICHAEL H. BABICZ
Community Editor

The golden railroad spike is closer.

President Bill Clinton signed a bill authorizing $25 million for expansion of the Metra line for northern Illinois.

The signing came about as part of a package of bills passed through Congress this session. Congressman John Porter (R-10th District) was instrumental in getting the original bill package through the U.S. House of Representatives Appropriations Transportation Subcommittee. Porter continued to lead the bill through Congress and ultimately to the President's desk where it was signed.

The bill includes funds to expand the Metra train service on three lines, including the Wisconsin Central which serves from Antioch south to Chicago.

Since its inception in 1996, the line has been "enormously successful," according to Porter. Daily ridership has averaged in excess of 4,000. That figure surpasses Metra's original projections for 2010.

The funds will be used to add a second track along the line running from Antioch to Chicago. This will allow additional passenger and freight service. Presently, trains are held at various staging locations to allow for passage of commuters.

Expected in the expansion is weekend passenger service.

Land acquired for future high school

By MICHAEL H. BABICZ
Community Editor

They will come. So it must be built.

The first step in building a new high school in Antioch has been achieved.

The Antioch Community High School District 117 Board of Education unanimously voted to accept a settlement for land purchase southeast of the village. The property is partially in Antioch Township and partially in Lake Villa Township as the township boundary line is across the property.

The 67-plus acre parcel is at the northeast corner of Grass Lake and Deep Lake roads. The land is located to the north of the existing Warren Polley Fields athletic complex of the high school.

Land owners Frank and Joan Gavin, along with their attorneys, agreed with board members, district representatives and attorneys to the settlement earlier in the day on Oct. 7. The matter was brought before the board at its regularly scheduled meeting that evening.

Purchase price is $1.85 million.

Payment will be made over a 20-year period.

The school board has a condemnation proceeding underway for the property. The settlement must be agreed upon by the judge in a court proceeding, according to District Superintendent Dr. Dennis Hockney.

"It's just a formality since a settlement has been reached," Hockney said.

Next step for the district is to bring in a consultant on enrollment projections.

"We need to do an enrollment study to see when the new school will need to be built," explains Hockney. "We've done updates and enrollment projections ourselves on a yearly basis. We just need to see if our figures are correct."

The projected "best guess" for the opening of a second high school at the site is sometime in the middle of the next decade. "Probably around 2004 or 2005," Hockney said. "It assumes that all of the houses we know about and are planned are actually built. A lot depends upon the economy."

Scouts ready to serve estimated 900 dinners

By MICHAEL H. BABICZ

Bring a hearty appetite and a bib. The 39th Annual Antioch Boy Scout Troop 92 Spaghetti Dinner will be Sunday, Oct. 17.

The spaghetti dinner, including cole slaw, bread, dessert and drink, at cost of $4.75 for all-you-can-eat, will be served noon-7 p.m. at the Loyal Order of Moose Lodge 525 on Route 173 west of downtown Antioch.

Children 5-years-old and younger eat free.

"This is such an exciting day for us every year," Troop 92 Scoutmaster Wayne Veach said. "This event is our single fund-raiser for the year to offset camping fees and equipment costs for the scouts."

Troop 92, a 25-member troop for boys ages 11-17, meets weekly at The

Seniors can sign up for sticker discount

By MICHAEL H. BABICZ
Community Editor

Senior citizens can get a break. Discount boat stickers are available from the Fox Waterway Agency. Representatives of United Homeowners Associations of Unincorporated Antioch (UHAUA) will accept signatures of persons wishing to apply at the next meeting Tuesday, Oct. 19. The meeting is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. at St. Stephen's Church, on Route 59 just south of Route 173, in Antioch. George Davis, UHAUA representative, will forward the signatures to the waterway agency at its next meeting.

Election for association vice president and secretary is on the planned agenda Oct. 19. Persons interested in running are asked to attend the meeting. UHAUA President Chris Peters at the association's September session discussed meetings with Martin Galantha, Lake County Department of Public Works superintendent, and Steve Smouse, Antioch Township supervisor, regarding the sewer issue and funding. A letter from Tony Smithson, Lake County Health Department coordinator, informed association members "yes" returns on the survey were "statistically significant to a confidence interval of 95 percent." The survey was of unincorporated residents regarding their desire for the sewer to come through.

Lincoln comes 'alive' at Republican dinner

Abraham Lincoln is coming to Fox Lake! "Meet Mr. Lincoln" and "The Greatness of Abraham Lincoln" will be the highlights of Dick Anderson's unique presentation. Anderson's rendition of Lincoln will be performed at the Antioch Township Republican Club's annual dinner Saturday, Oct. 23 at Maravella's Banquet Center in Fox Lake. Tickets are $30 per person. Cocktails will be at 6 p.m. with dinner at 7 p.m. Record attendance is anticipated based upon early reservations, according to Len Mattson, club president. Attendees are expected to include elected officials, judges, candidates and supporters. Tickets may be ordered by contacting Lillian Golanka, club secretary, at 395-1872, Linda Pedersen, club treasurer, 395-1384 or Mattson 395-1989. Advance reservations are recommended prior to Oct. 18.—By MICHAEL H. BABICZ.

American family comes alive at PM&L Theatre

By MICHAEL H. BABICZ
Community Editor

American family life comes alive. The PM&L Reader's Theatre hosts a presentation at 8 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 17 at the Theatre, 877 N. Main Street, in Antioch. Antioch's Tom Hausman will direct two one act plays: "The Happy Journey" by Thornton Wilder. Wilder authored "Our Town" as well. The second play is "The Sandbox" by Edward Albee. The performances show two differing views of the middle 20th Century American family. Both are expected to be poignant and funny. Cast members are Dee Baum, Shirley Jensen and Hausman, all of Antioch; Christine Heilgeist of Salem, Wis.; and Matt Konkrite of Fox Lake. The estimated one-hour presentation will be followed by refreshments and a social time with cast members. No reservations are needed. Admission is free. For information phone 395-3433.

District 41 may face strike

After months of negotiating, progress has been made but not enough progress to keep the teachers in the classroom. "We've worked very hard and have done incredible things. A lot of changes have been made and we appreciate all the teachers have done. We all sacrificed quite a bit," said JoAnne Osmand, a member of the District 41 school board. The teachers union and the District 41 school board met on Oct. 13 to make one last attempt to come to an agreement that both parties can be satisfied with. By a vote of 131 to 19, teachers authorized the union to file a notice of intent to strike.

$1 lottery ticket leads to $25,000 for Antioch mother, daughter

By MICHAEL H. BABICZ
Community Editor

All in the family. A $1 investment proved to be a $25,000 winner for an Antioch mother-daughter combination. Joy Palmer and her mother, Judith Bronder, teamed up to win $25,000 in the Illinois' Lottery 25th Anniversary "Illinois Luckiest" TV game show. Mom, "standing in" for daughter, split the $50,000 runner up prize with another female contestant during the show which aired on WGN-TV Channel 9 of Chicago Oct. 9. The winnings came during Bronder's playing of Rolling Thunder during the program. "Mom had bought the ticket on her way home, and I opened it," said Palmer, mother of two and step-mom of three. "We agreed to split any winnings."

"Mom subbed for me the first time, and at the end of the show there was a drawing," Palmer explained getting on the show. "The 25 highest numbers qualified automatically. The numbers ranged up to 50. Mom pulled 46."

"Excitement is how I felt the second time," Bronder said. "The first time, I was nervous. The second time, very excited."

"I never thought we'd win anything," Bronder admitted. "I figured we'd go down there, have a good time and that would be it. We just got lucky."

"They were all laughing," Bronder said of her family members, many of which were at the show. "With my jumping around and seeing me all excited, they're still laughing about it."

The first appearance by the Antioch pair, with mom getting the only "TV time," came in January. That was when Bronder pulled the number qualifying her for the anniversary show.

"I'm not really that lucky," admits Palmer. "I won $500 on the instant lottery a few years back, but that's it."

For Bronder, she sees her luck "running in streaks."

"I have streaks every so often," Bronder explains, admitting she is more of a gambler than her daughter.

Mother and daughter from Antioch teamed up to win $25,000 in Illinois' Lottery 25th Anniversary program. ter. "She (Palmer) sent in the ticket and we were both kind of shocked because the odds of being picked were kind of high."

The winning qualifying Illinois' Luckiest instant game ticket was purchased at The Country Store on Route 173 in Antioch.

The $25,000 is being split between the mother and daughter. Bronder is continuing to work at Northlake Engineering in Bristol, Wis., where she is employed along with husband, John.

"I buy scratch off tickets along with my other daughter, Janet Weber, and we agree to split anything we win," Bronder said.

Bronder says she plays bingo, lottery and pull tabs. Bronder and her daughters occasionally go to Potawatomi Bingo & Casino.

"I've never won a big jack pot," Bronder said.

"You've got to play something to win," Bronder added.

"I plan on doing Christmas shopping and taking my husband, who was in shock when we won, on a vacation," Bronder said. "I'd like to go sometime in February or March, either to Florida or Las Vegas." Palmer is a stay at home mom, taking care of children 5-month-old Michael and 6-year-old Heather. The stepchildren are 8-year-old Jordan, 6-year-old Jack and 5-year-old Tiffany. Palmer's husband, Brett, works as a plumbing/heating technician.

"I'm not sure what we'll do with the money," admits Palmer. "We're planning on getting some new furniture and a whirlpool for the bathroom."

"I guess the remainder will be put in the bank until we get ready for Christmas shopping which will be coming up soon," Palmer added.

In addition to the television show appearance, Palmer and Bronder attended a Lottery "birthday" celebration following the program. Illinois Lottery Director Lori Montana was in attendance with other show contestants and family members. Bill Leff, stand-up comedian, performed.

Show CO-hosts Linda Kollmeyer and Jeanne Sparrow joined contestants following the show taping at WGN-TV studios in Chicago.

Antioch holding community blood drive

The following organizations ban together to hold the annual blood drive. Antioch Moose Lodge, Antioch Woman's Club, Antioch Junior Woman's Club, Antioch Lions Club, Antioch Masonic Temple, Northern Illinois Conservation Club and Antioch Rotary Club.

Bill Stanley of Antioch Rotary explained to Rotarians the goal is for each civic organization be responsible for 40 pints of blood to be donated. "That means we could have 40 people donate one pint, or one person donate 40 pints," Bill quipped. On the serious side, if that goal is reached, that will mean 280 pints of blood will be collected.

LAND: Acquired for future high school in Antioch

A referendum for the funds needed for the actual construction is projected to come sometime within the next two to three years, according to Hockney.

"Our next step is to begin some planning as to what the school will look like," Hockney explained.

In a related matter, the future of lighting the existing athletic field is basically on hold. Although funds for such a project could probably be easily put together, combined with volunteer assistance, the board is waiting until the new school is built.

At that time, a joint athletic stadium to be used by both schools is planned. That stadium project would include lights, according to Hockney.

SCOUTS: Host Dinner

Scout House in Williams Park on Main Street in Antioch.

Monthly camping outings to a variety of camp grounds are among the troop's activities. A two week summer camp is held each year.

The troop participates in a High Adventure activity. This event usually includes a 50 to 75 mile hike or canoe trip spanning over a one week period.

Community service is an important aspect of Troop 92's scouting activities. The troop completed a Chain

O' Lakes project this year. This project included building boxes for the wood ducks to lay eggs every spring and maintaining the boxes throughout the year.

The troop assists at the Northern Illinois Conservation Club's annual fishing tournament at Channel Lake and the Antioch Lion's Club picnic along with the Antioch Rescue Squad auction each summer.

Jump-start program.

Not lifetime way of life.

That one of the goals of the "Welcome To America!" Pack. The program is run through Exodus based in Schaumburg. Kevin Weslock serves as the program director.

"When refugees come to America, they are given social security cards and put on public aid," explained Bo Thompson, coordinator for St. Peter's School of Antioch "Pack" program.

A major difference with the program is the success rate compared to immigrants. Immigrants often time come into the country illegally. They end up on welfare and often times remain on it for long periods of time.

With the Exodus program, the refugee families are many times displaced.

In the case of Jasmin and Jasmina Kavkovic, along with their daughter, they were originally forced to leave Bosnia and go to Germany. After spending time in Germany, they were sent back to Bosnia because there was not enough room. Similar circumstances in Bosnia created their need to move again.

Through Jasmina's contact with her sister who came to the United States one year ago, they were able to work with a relocation program. The relocation service got them in contact with Exodus.

In talking with Catholic Charities representatives, Thompson notes refugees tend to be very determined individuals.

Once arriving in the United States, the adults are enrolled in English classes to learn the language. If a child is of school age, they would attend the regular local English speaking school system.

The average length of stay for a refugee on public aid is four months, based on Catholic Charities follow-up surveys. An example of their willingness to contribute is the family's requirement to pay back the airline fare to the relocation service.

"These people are not in America's choice, but rather by their own choice," according to Thompson. "They are very highly motivated people who want to contribute."

Tragic car crash takes lives of four

Former U of I basketball star Matt Heldman among those who died

By STEVE PETERSON
Staff Reporter

Anyone who picked up a basketball five to seven years ago, or channel surfed local cable TV in Libertyville knew of Matt Heldman.

Heldman's dreams of becoming a professional were perhaps a few years off, but they came to a halt along a well-traveled Libertyville route Oct. 10. Matt Heldman, 23, and his father, Otis, 53, were killed in a two-vehicle wreck which also took two other Libertyville residents, Francis and Joann Osterman.

"The players probably have not gotten together to talk about it yet. When they do at the wake on Thursday, they will be able to recall the fun times before this most unfortunate incident," said Max Sanders, Libertyville's long-time coach, who coached Heldman.

"He was an outstanding young man. Everyone would have loved to have him as a son," Sanders said.

Matt Heldman was pronounced dead at the scene. He was reportedly a passenger in a 1986 Corvette driven by his father, Otis. The Corvette hit a 1997 van driven by Francis Osterman at a head-on angle, according to authorities.

Lake County Deputy Coroner James Wiper said factors such as foreign substances have been ruled out in Otis Heldman.

Libertyville police continue to investigate the fatality. "We do not have accident reconstruction specialists, but we do have people who are trained at the Northwestern University traffic accident school. It appears the accident was almost head-on," Lt. Ron Fry said.

Police are asking those at the scene or in the immediate vicinity to call them with further details.

Heldman took his basketball skills from the playgrounds of Libertyville to outstanding achievements for the Wildcats' state playoff team in 1994, their last, and then to University of Illinois. He helped the Illini win the Big Ten title in 1998, helped out at a basketball camp there, and went to play in Finland.

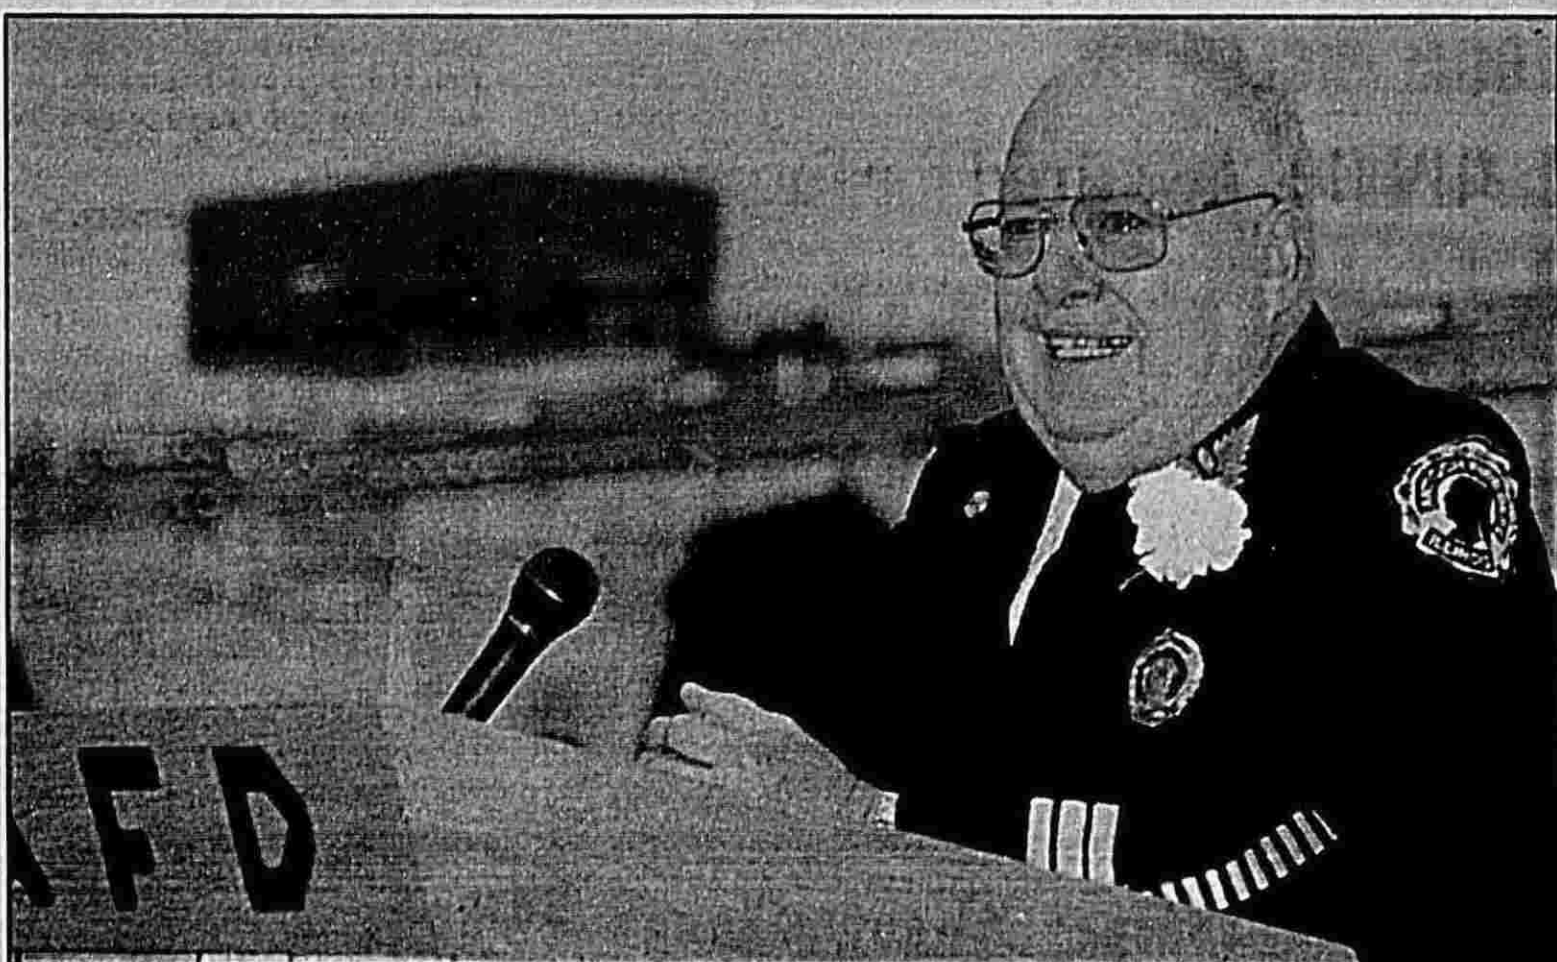

Heldman earned a business degree from the Champaign University and worked at the Board of Trade, but had not finalized any plans other than European basketball, Sanders said.

In another part of Libertyville, the Ostermans were being mourned. They were returning from a weekend trip to Michigan.

Francis Osterman, 69, the driver of the van, was pronounced dead at Lutheran General Hospital just past 10 p.m. Otis Heldman was taken to Condell as was Joann Osterman.

The accident took place on Route 21, just past the E&E railroad tracks.

Funeral arrangements for the Heldmans were being handled by Burnett-Dane Funeral Home.

Former Round Lake Heights trustee pleads guilty to stealing fair money

Former Round Lake Heights trustee Patricia A. Kassner, 58, of 1724 N. Lotus Ave., has admitted to stealing approximately $26,000 from the Lake County Fair.

Kassner was placed on three years probation Oct. 5 after pleading guilty to felony theft.

She was indicted on two counts of theft Aug. 18. Both counts were a Class II felony that carried a three to seven-year prison term.

Kassner had taken money from the fair this year and last year while working as a cash handler. She had been employed by the fair for the past three years. She allegedly stole $15,000 in 1998, and $11,000 this year.

The theft was confirmed after an independent audit was conducted by a firm hired by the fair board July 27. Lake County Circuit Court Judge Raymond J. McKoski has ordered Kassner to repay the $15,000 during her three years of probation, said Assistant State's Attorney Paul O'Keefe. On Oct. 5, she was prepared to repay $8,000 immediately, said O'Keefe.

Kassner is required to perform 200 hours of community service work and complete any counseling programs ordered by her probation officer, according to O'Keefe.

Where Are They Now?

They Could Be On a Cruise Ship With You

by JIM WARREN, President, North Star Travel, Inc.

Maybe it's a Sock Hop idol of the sixties or a Country Western name from the past. It could be a Broadway star. Maybe even one of the legendary Big Bands of the forties?

You just might find them doing a gig on the many theme cruises offered by most cruise lines.

If you were to sail on Holland America's Westerdam on January 8 of next year, you'd be sharing the ship with the likes of Bobby Rydell, The Shirelles and The Happenings. (O.K., I don't remember The Happenings, either.)

Wait until the March 18th sailing and you could be sitting poolside with Little Anthony & The Imperials. You may run into Dee Dee Sharp at the midnight buffet. Diamond Dave Somerville could be in the cabin across the hall from you.

On the October 21, 2000 sailing of the Westerdam you're likely to run into Danny & The Juniors or Johnny Tillotson (him I remember, since he performed at a St. Pricilla High School dance I attended in the early '60s). Dodie Stevens will also be one of your shipmates.

Wait until December 2, and you can sail with Bowzer and his Doo Wop Party. (I wonder if he still hangs out at the Union Grove drag strip?). You'll also be cruising with the Dixie Cups, Rocky & The Rollers could be your dinner companions.

For you Country Western fans, BJ Thomas and Juice Newton will be aboard the November 25, 2000 sailing of the Westerdam. The Oct. 14 sailing will feature a couple of yet unannounced country entertainers, but the word is they will be someone you're sure to know.

Sail aboard the Westerdam on March 25 and you'll spend seven days with Broadway legend Carol Channing. (I guess that's a good thing). Sailing with Ms. Channing will be Broadway stars Andrea McArdle and Lee Roy Reames.

The Big Band sound used to be just for the older crowd, but with the revival of Swing, the youngsters are getting into it, too. If Big Band is your thing, check out the April 21 and August 25 Trans Atlantic sails of the Maasdam, which will feature the Glenn Miller Orchestra and the Harry James Orchestra respectively, or the April 27 Trans Atlantic sailing of the Rotterdam with the sounds of The Tommy Dorsey Orchestra featuring Buddy Morrow.

This is just a small sample of the many theme cruises now offered. Others feature sports legends, self-improvement speakers, and even one just for chocolate lovers. Ask your favorite travel agent for more information.

Free Lecture
"Healing the Hurt"
Oct. 17, 1999 @ 3 p.m.

'Hurting?' Don't know why? Come to Oct. 17 free lecture

By MICHAEL H. BABICZ
Community Editor

Are you hurting?
Don't know why?

Come to a free lecture "Healing The Hurt" at 3 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 17 at First Church of Christ, Scientist, Route 173 and Harden Street, in Antioch.

Cythia Neely will be presenting the talk in response to the current trend of public interest in how spirituality brings healing to broken relationships, low self-esteem and to an inability to forgive.

Mary Baker Eddy and her book "Science and Health With Key to the Scriptures" will be one of the main focuses of Neely's presentation.

"It is a book that will help you find spiritual solutions to the challenges that face each of us every day," says Neely, adding, "including parenting and relationship problems, lack of equality in the workplace, issues surrounding the mind/body connection, poor health and troubled finances."

Science and Health, written over 120 years ago, was chosen by the Women's National Book Association as "one of 75 books by women whose words have changed the world."

Neely: Addressing Healing the Hurt

"Everyone wants to feel loved, including our children," says Neely. "This lecture will show how it is possible to discover our true inheritance, how we can claim our birthright as the sons and daughters of God. True forgiveness comes from understanding—from within—and that is where we discover our ability to be set free from the hurt, and to love."

Adding her own healing and regeneration within her life experience will be highlighted by Neely. Showing how this is possible within anyone's life is to be covered.

Copies of the book will be available at the lecture and in the Christian Science Reading Room, downstairs of the Church. For information, phone 395-1685 or 395-1196.

THE CLIPBOARD

John Phelps

He works in mysterious ways!

As much as we experience the good, unfortunately, the evil has to take its course as well as part of an ongoing effort to maintain that balance, which is cruel and unfair at times.

Well, we lost two good men Sunday night in a car crash that should have never happened.

Matt Heldman, age 23, and his 53-year-old father Otis were suddenly snagged away from us like a breakaway slam dunk.

A 1994 graduate of Libertyville High School, Matt was a standout basketball player on a team that finished fourth in the state his senior year. He was also a member of the National Honor Society and the prototype all-American role model in the community.

While at Libertyville, the 6-foot sharp-shooting guard poured in 1,877 points during a stellar four-year stint. He was also a two-time all-county and all-conference recipient.

Matt went on to play four years for The University of Illinois. He waited his turn in the rotation until his sophomore year. That's when he worked his way into the starting lineup and remained there till his final game with the Illini.

But that wasn't the end as he embarked on a professional career in Europe. He played for the Athletes in Action amateur team before winding up with Finland, where he averaged 23 points per game in the European League.

Matt's former head coach at Libertyville, Max Sanders, said his former star player was very team-oriented and did a nice job of being a role model for kids.

Just doesn't seem fair that someone so good by nature, both on and off the court, can be taken away in a New York second.

I had the honor of covering Matt during his glory days at Libertyville. What a player—he was very quick off the dribble and if you weren't paying attention, he would blow by you in a heartbeat. Furthermore, he could light it up from the outside at any given moment.

The village of Libertyville, as well as Lake County for that matter, will most certainly miss one of the consummate athletes to pass through this neck of the woods in recent history.

But I know, just as the Heldman contingency probably knows, Matt and his father are now up in basketball heaven.

And I'll even wager a bet that the duo is probably taking Saint Peter to the hoop in a big-time way!

We'll miss you buddy. And who knows—maybe someday I'll have the privilege of covering you again, this time, in the peaceful skies above.

A season to remember!

By JOHN PHELPS
Sports Editor

Despite not not qualifying for the state tournament Tuesday, the Antioch varsity boys golf team has much to be proud of this season.

"This is one of the best teams we've had here in a long time," said head coach Jeff Moxley. "These kids worked so hard and it paid off! We want to keep improving and possibly take it to the next level next season."

For starters, Antioch fired a school-best 149 in a dual meet against Mundelein earlier in the season.

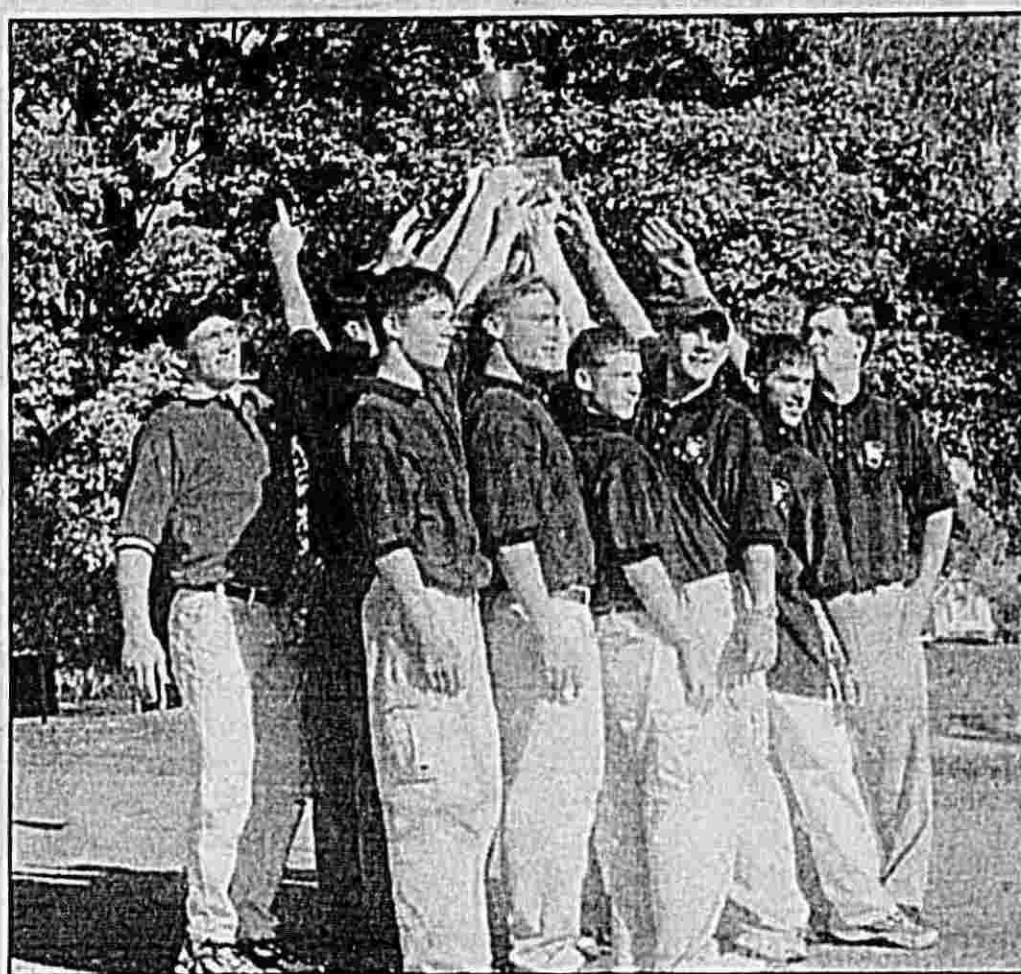

Two days later, ACHS posted a 151 against Lake Forest.

The season also included a title at the McHenry Invitational, where sophomore Mike Baba claimed medalist honors with a 73.

The Sequoits added another title last week in capturing the Jacobs regional, held at The Golf Club of Illinois.

Furthermore, Antioch had three second-place finishes to its credit, including the Lake County Invitational, the Antioch Invitational, and the North Suburban Conference meet.

The team finished 10-2 in dual meets.

John Logan, who played number one for the Sequoits this season, turned in his best round at the NSC meet when he carded a 72, beating out the state number one ranked player Andrew Price of Lake Forest.

Logan, along with Christian Litke, Nate Zellar, Tim Jankowski, and Steve Lemmerman, will be graduating this year.

But Moxley has much to look forward to next season, when he has the likes of Baba and Tom Davis, both sophomores, and juniors-to-be Shaun Schuler and Andrew Kinney, along with a solid underclass corp, returning to the lineup.

"There was tremendous balance on the team," noted Moxley. "When one guy was down, there was always someone else there to pick it up."

On Tuesday, Kinney led the way at the Prospect Sectional, carding an 80. He was backed by Schuler (84), Zellar (87), and Logan and Davis (89).

"The guys were a little disappointed but soon realized that we had a very exciting season," said Moxley. "There were some pretty narrow fairways with some big trees. We couldn't overcome that but we have no reason to be ashamed. We were very happy with the season."

Moxley also wanted to extend his appreciation towards Jim Kinney, who helped the team with their games and course management.

"He's a great golfer and really took the kids under his wing," said Moxley.

And from what we've seen, he had some excellent talent to work with!

Sequoits rockin', rollin' towards playoffs

By JOHN PHELPS
Sports Editor

The Antioch varsity football team moved one step closer to a playoff berth following its 26-21 victory last weekend over visiting Lake Forest.

The win moved the Sequoits to 5-2 overall and 4-1 in the North Suburban. Antioch hosts Warren this Saturday at 1 p.m. before finishing the regular season with a road date against Stevenson.

Quarterback Don Lackey was instrumental in the victory Saturday, completing 10-of-14 passes for 180 yards and two touchdowns. The senior also ran for another score, a 14-yard scamper to kick off the scoring in the first quarter.

Lake Forest tied the game before the hosts took the lead for good in the second quarter. That's when Lackey hooked up with wideout Eric White on a 7-yard strike for a touchdown.

White finished with 157 yards on six receptions, including another scoring strike from Lackey in the fourth quarter, this time 42 yards.

In between the White touchdowns, Adam Niles, who rumbled for 203 yards on 24 carries, raced in from 5-yards out, putting ACHS up 20-7 in the third quarter.

Defensive standouts included Conrad Adkins, who finished with 12 solo tackles and six assists, and Jeremy Wicinski, who collected eight solo tackles to go along with five assists.

"We knew their offense was good," said head coach Del Pechauer. "And their offensive line dominated us for a better part of the game. We need to get our running game more in tact and stay at home (to contain Vandaele) if we want to beat Warren this Saturday."

Groh making a return trip to state golf tournament

By JOHN PHELPS
Sports Editor

Sara Groh will find herself on familiar grounds this weekend. That's because the senior Lady Sequoit golfer fired an 89 Tuesday, thus qualifying for this weekend's state tournament at the ISU GC in Normal, IL.

It marks a return trip to the state tournament for Groh, who fired rounds of 90-83 last year, good for 16th place in the 132-player field.

Groh's round Tuesday got off to a shaky start when she three-putted the first three greens, followed by a four-putt on the fourth hole. She wound up shooting a 46 on the front nine but rebounded for a 43 on the backside.

"That was a great example of what happens when an athlete battles and never gives up," said head coach Steve Wapon. "Experienced definitely helped. A lot of players would have pushed the panic button, but she zeroed in and finished strong (on the back nine)."

"It was also a great personal victory for her," added Wapon. "All of the long hours of hard work paid off today."

Wapon went on to say the conditions weren't ideal. The greens were very dry and a sustained win confronted the players for the duration of the tournament.

That was evident as 83 was took medalist honors.

Look for a recap on Groh's weekend at the state tourney in next week's issue.

Antioch varsity soccer rolling along with winning record

By JOHN PHELPS
Sports Editor

Mike Wheeler accounted for the lone goal. He was assisted by Adam Schuster.

Antioch earned a 1-1 tie last Thursday with NSC rival Lake Forest.

With Lake Forest ahead 1-0, Kieran Moran scored on a crossing ball from Steve Colletti, evening the count at 1-1.

Goalie Nick Placko recorded three saves in the contest.

"We played hard and were fortunate in finding a way to tie the game considering the Lake Forest goalie was all over the place," said head coach Charlie Trout. "Our goalie is very good but this guy turned in one of the best performances by a keeper that I've seen this season."

Antioch, which stands at 14-2-3, 4-1-1 in the NSC, outshot the Scouts, 20-5.

Enduro series racing has a nice Ring to it

By JANNAN J. KHURI
Correspondent

Each racer sits poised behind his steering wheel as his car takes its place amongst the lineup of competitors that are several rows deep. The sounds of engines revving up is fast and furious. Several times this year, Bill Ring of Antioch has become more familiar with the sights and sounds of stockcar racing and will finish out the 1999 Midwestern Enduros Stockcar Series Oct. 24 at the Goblin 250, Lake Geneva, Wis.

Ring and his family have been involved with racing since his mother, Geraldine, first started out in the Powder Puff Derby. From there, Bill and his three brothers, Mike, Mark and Matt, began to get involved. Ring is the only brother to continue to be involved in racing. This is Ring's first full year of racing in the series.

For his first two races Ring finished in second and third place but due to engine problems with his '76 Oldsmobile 442 Cutlass, he was forced to miss some races throughout this past season.

Ring said that his team competed in about seven of the 13 races that make up the Enduro Series. The Enduro Series, which Ring said is a test of endurance, runs from May 2 to Oct. 24.

Ring, age 38 said, "I think we did fairly well for the first year. It's a tough sport. It's a lot of endurance. You have got to endure all those laps and sometimes it can be 96 degrees out and you have to stay in the car for three hours."

Ring, married with two children,

Daniel, age 9, and Katelyn, age 6, said wife Sherry even gets in on the action and has volunteered to be an alternate driver. Sherry won't be seeing any racing action this year as they are expecting their third child sometime this month.

"It's a family oriented thing in my eyes," said Ring. "My kids love it and my wife loves it."

Ring's sponsors include family-owned and operated Ring Radiator of Antioch as well as Acorn Auto and Marine Supply, Midtown Door of Antioch and Camp Lake Auto of Camp Lake, Wis. Ring said the cost of racing this year has cost about $4,000.

"You could really put in there more than you would ever get out of it," said Ring.

What would a racing team be without a pit crew? Come race day, Ring has the help of brother Matt Ring, and fellow pit crew members, Jim Ohlinger, Ron Nofling and Brent Lubkeman to keep things running smooth.

Ring is the youngest of 14 children which is why his Olds has a number 14 painted on it.

"We classify it as a hobby and a sport," said Ring. "This is strictly a stock car track type of thing," added Ring. Ring said that 90 percent of the tracks they run on are paved, unlike Wilmot, Wis. which is dirt, where the Ring family began their racing debut.

Ring has been living in Antioch all his life and works at the family radiator business as a mechanic. Hopefully, Ring can bring home a victory, along with the new edition to his family and end the 1999 racing season with two joyous occasions.

Antioch lightweights football back on track

By JOHN PHELPS
Sports Editor

After having its six-year regular-season winning streak snapped last week by Libertyville, the Antioch Lightweight youth football team rebounded with a vengeance, posting a 30-7 victory last week over the Barrington Jr. Broncos.

The Vikings were led by a two touchdown performance by running back Jeff Kibonge, who finished the game with 140 yards on eight carries.

Jeff Cannella scored Antioch's third touchdown of the game and finished with 46 yards on three attempts.

The Vikings fourth score came via the defense when quarterback Tony Wyenberg, put into the lineup as a defensive end towards the end of the third quarter, stripped the ball from a Barrington player and rumbled in from 38 yards.

Speaking of defense, the Broncos were held to only three first downs for the game. The Vikings, on the other hand, racked up 389 yards of total offense.

Cannella and Jim Abear, a defensive lineman, collected interceptions in the game for Antioch, which is a game behind frontrunner Libertyville at 6-1.

"We started sluggish," said head coach Denny Porter. "But we settled down and played some great defense after Barrington had driven to our 14-yard line."

Porter also singled out the tremendous blocking of center Steve Fritz and guards Justin Carey and Dave Coots.

The Vikings close out the regular season this Sunday at home versus the Lake Zurich Flames on Antioch's High School field. Kickoff is slated for 1 p.m.

Overall and "A" class winner was Frank Calabrese of Black Creek, Wis. Erich Iversen Jr. of Glenview placed eighth.

Behind LeBrun in the "B" class was Zion's Mike Beagel in third, Kenosha's Ken Broomell fourth, and Racine's Fred Blickle sixth.

The "C" class winner was a local competitor, David McCalla of Cedar Rapids.

The final event for the 1999 season for the Midwest Enduro Stock Car Series will be the original traditional Goblin 250 to be held Sunday, Oct. 24 at Lake Geneva Raceway.

Prior to the 250-lap season finale, a costume contest for children ages 11-and-under will be held. A women's powder puff race is also planned. Gates open at 11 a.m. with pre-race festivities scheduled to get underway at 12:15 p.m. The Goblin 250 is set to take the green flag at 1 p.m.

Speaking of Lake Geneva Raceway, the regular season finale 22nd Annual "Run What Ya Brung" show was held Oct. 9. Three of the four class winners are from the Lakeland area.

Heading the list is the "A" division victor Skip Martin of McHenry. Martin, a regular top ten runner in the late models at the clay oval LaSalle Speedway, adapted well to the one-third mile asphalt. Martin was followed at the finish by Danny Darnell of Park City, Landry Potter third, Grayslake's Joe Fisher fourth, Terry Patnode fifth, and Round Lake's Larry Surlita sixth.

Jefferson's Bart Reinen scored the "B" division win, with Bill Drefahl finishing second, Steve Coll third, Jerry Freeman fourth, and Lake Zurich's Marty Robb fifth.

Antioch's John Maki chalked up his third feature win of the season, edging Jeremy Tess for the "C" division victory at the checkered flag. Jim Holzinger, Dan Huber, Greg Peterson of Antioch completed the top five.

Mike Kooli of Island Lake finished the evening off with a victory in the crash marred "D" class main event. Chad Phillips, Todd Ross, Jim Olson and Matt Nickel completed the top five. At the finish, Vincent Merry and Bill Carroll came together with Carroll being transported to an area hospital for observation.

In preliminary events, Martin set a fast time in the "A" class and won the dash with Jeff Bodendorfer Jr. taking the heat. Eddie LeMay Jr. of Crystal Lake set quick time in the "B" class. Robb and Bill Drefahl scored heat wins, and Jim Holzinger was fastest in the "C" class. Shane Bishop and Tess won heats, while Phillips was quick in "D" class. Jim Olson and Kooli also won heats.

Lake Geneva hosts pro moto cross racing Sunday, Oct. 17 beginning at 9 a.m.

In the final World of Outlaws sprint car event in the area, Stevie Smith of Pennsylvania scored the win at Route 66 Raceway near Joliet Oct. 10.

Travis Whitney of Minnesota, driving for Mike Frost of Zion, won a heat race, finished fourth in the dash and 12th in the "A."

Frost, past champion at Wilmet Speedway, has decided to stick to turning wrenches and being a car owner. Frost plans to keep Whitney in the car for the 2000 season. The final World of Outlaw event at Las Vegas Nov. 1-3 may see the Whitney/Frost team.

Gurnee's Fred Ebler was at Joliet, hampered by motor problems which prevented him from a strong run all night.

The Interstates Racing Association 1999 Rookie of The Year Wayne Modjeski of Milwaukee looked smooth, but failed to transfer through the heat or "B" main.

Craig Dolansky, taking over the ride of IRA champion Donny Goeden, spun in the "B" main and failed to transfer.

A reminder, the 3rd Annual International Council on Deafness and the Arts "Spotlight On Racing" is coming up Saturday and Sunday, Nov. 6-7. The event will be held at Field's Jeep-Eagle Dealership in Northfield. The Nov. 6 featured activity is a gala dinner. Motorsports dignitaries attending will include two-time Indy 500 Champion Rodger Ward, Janet Guthrie and retired Indy 500 Starter Duane Sweeney. Dinner is scheduled for 7 p.m. with "bench racing" at 6.

On Nov. 7, a Family Day will be held from 10 a.m.-4 p.m. Tickets are $10 for adults for the family oriented Sunday event. Children ages 12 and under are admitted free. Various vintage and modern race cars will be displayed. Racing memorabilia will be available for viewing. Refreshments will be available. The Dancing Hands Troupe from ICODA and the drama team "Truth Warriors" will hold performances throughout the day.

For information on either event, or tickets, contact Melanie Kaplan at ICODA 559-0110, ext. 271.

Until next time, "Let's Go Racing!!"

SPORTS DIGEST

Organized bicycle rides are being offered. Come join fellow riders for a few hours of riding and learning. Mike Kerrigan of Mike's Bikes of Gurnee, and Pete Murphy, former managing editor of Bike Magazine, will host evening and weekend rides on local trails and sport parks.

Rides will be hosted in the evenings before sundown or daily on the weekends and will consist of light to moderate speeds and locations. Participants will have a chance to ask questions from the owners and operators of Mike's Bikes (Gurnee) and offer their own experiences to others.

Most rides will take place on county paths and trailways. Complimentary post-ride liquids and foods will be provided, however, riders are encouraged to bring their own beverage for the duration of the ride.

These rides provide a great way to enjoy the fall season and get fit for the winter months coming. Riding along riverways and wooded trailways offers beautiful scenery while challenging your fitness level along with fellow cyclists.

It's twilight time at Thunderhawk. Sunset is a sure bet for visiting the Lake County Forest Preserves' new highly acclaimed Thunderhawk Golf Club, an 18-hole public championship course near Beach Park and Zion, designed by legendary golf course architect Robert Trent Jones Jr.

To celebrate a successful inaugural season and to introduce more area golfers to Thunderhawk, a sunset rate for public play after 5 p.m. is being offered on weekdays and weekends. The sunset rate is designed to encourage additional play after 5 p.m., a time when play is generally slower and daylight hours limit the ability to play a complete 18-hole round of golf.

On Mondays through Thursdays after 5 p.m. on weekends (Friday to Sunday) are $35 for Lake County residents and $55 for non-residents.

To take advantage of the sunset rates or for more information about Thunderhawk Golf Club, call 872-HAWK (4295).

And finally, an ASEP Coaches Clinic will be held in Rockford on Oct. 24 for anyone interested in becoming certified to coach middle or high school athletics.

The successful completion of the ASEP leader level program is an Illinois High School Association requirement for all non-faculty coaches. To register or for more information about this or future clinics contact instructor Jeff Kyle at (217) 586-4799.

Look what's hiding under my bed

Imagine my horror the other day when I pulled the vacuum cleaner out from under my daughter's bed with a damp bathing suit being sucked up into the power head. Now folks, I by no means claim to even come remotely close to winning the "Housekeeper of the Year Award," but a damp bathing suit in the middle of October is a bit unnerving even for the worst housekeepers. Oh sure, on any given day you will find dust on the TV, and cobwebs in the corners, not to mention the traces of last night's dinner on the kitchen floor—but a damp bathing suit in the middle of October makes even the toughest dirt and grime look meager.

Oh sure, yesterday's newspaper still rests on the coffee table, and the folded laundry sits in the basket on the cedar chest—but a damp bathing suit in the middle of October even makes the gunk hanging on the underside of your electric can opener seem irrelevant.

From past experiences I have learned to be diplomatic in these situations and do not automatically accuse the owner of the object in question. Instead, I lined up all the children in the household and presented the moist garment. Trying to maintain a calm demeanor, I interrogated, I mean, I inquired if anyone knew how this suit found its way under the bed? Three of the four children obviously had no clue as to what I was talking about as they stood expressionless and confused, but number four wiggled and squirmed just enough to give away the fact that the guilty party had been found.

The other three were dismissed and number four "spilled her guts" that she was playing "Little Mermaid" in the bathroom and figured mom would get mad. She hid the wet garment under her sister's bed so it could dry and be put back to rest until next summer.

The plan would have worked like a charm too had it not been mom's day to vacuum the bedrooms. A punishment was handed out, a promise was made to never attempt to imitate Disney characters in the bathroom again, and mom was greatly relieved to find out her housekeeping skills, although still somewhat lacking, were not completely dismal.

As mom returned to her chores, the guilty one stuck her head in the room and wondered if she could be punished for the same crime twice. Feeling somewhat slighted that this child would think her mother so unjust, I explained that the incident was over, case closed. The child, looking greatly relieved and somewhat smug, replied with a smile, "Oh good, wait until you see what the bathroom looks like." My mother never told me there would be days like these.

And so goes another "Jingle from Pringle."

Mitsubishi motors introduces updated 2000 Montero Sport

Mid-size sport utility vehicle offers aggressive styling, convenient features, even smoother ride

Significantly updated and restyled with interior and exterior revisions by the California-based Mitsubishi Motors R&D of America, Inc. (MRDA) design studio, the 2000 Mitsubishi Montero Sport also features several technical improvements, including a new 3-link rear coil spring suspension.

"Montero Sports" styling and interior updates were developed to specifically reflect the tastes of American car buyers," said Pierre Gagnon, executive vice president and chief operating officer for Mitsubishi Motor Sales of America, Inc. (MMSA). "The result is a very stylish sport utility vehicle that offers a combination of excitement, practicality and a user-friendly interior."

With thoughtfully designed features inside and out, the updated Montero Sport boasts a distinctive style and new refinements that allow it to stand apart in the heavily populated sport utility market. The 2000 Montero Sport was available at Mitsubishi Motors' dealerships starting in early summer.

Rugged Exterior Design

A lean, muscular look has always been Montero Sport's trademark. That tradition continues for 2000 with an aggressive front and rear exterior restyling. From a new grille, front bumper, fog lights and bodyside moldings to revised taillamps and rear garnish, Montero Sport displays even more rugged style.

Refined Interior

Whether you're going cross-country or simply across town, Montero Sports cabin has been updated to offer a high level of comfort while providing convenient new features, such as a third auxiliary 12-volt power outlet. The vehicle's two front cupholders are now located in the new center console, which also boasts ample storage space for items commonly used by today's busy consumers.

Other new elements of the Montero Sport's spacious cabin include a two-tone instrument panel scheme, new fabrics and orthopedically improved front seats, with the driver's side now offering adjustable back support.

Kaleidoscope of COLOR

By JOHN ROSZKOWSKI
Regional Editor

The awesome beauty of nature in autumn is upon us once again.

Fall is a season of sharp contrasts. On the one hand, it provides it us with a not-so-pleasant reminder of winter's fast approach. By the same token, it gives a rare opportunity to experience the more wonderful side of Mother Nature's ever-changing complexion.

Leaves on the trees are now showing off their brilliant colors of red, orange, yellow, brown and gold. Late-blooming wildflowers are making a final display before winter sets in. Native prairie grasses are turning different shades of orange and purple to mark the change in seasons.

Although Lake County is becoming an increasingly urbanized county, there are still plenty of opportunities for residents to enjoy fall's wonders.

"Obviously, this time of year you expect it to be beautiful," said Nan Buckardt, environmental education manager for the Lake County Forest Preserves. "It's not just the forest, but the prairie areas have stunning colors, too. Prairie grasses are golden brown and rich purple and then we have wildflowers that are yellow, white, purple and blue."

"I think the prairies are sometimes overlooked because the colors are very subtle," she added. "But if people take the time to look at a native prairie, it's absolutely stunning."

Many of these prairie grasses can be found scattered throughout the various forest preserves of Lake County. And from now through the end of October is the best time to view these native grasses as they are changing colors.

The Cinderella Fairy Tale: '90s Style

There once was a man whose first wife died (a fairy tale pattern, I would say), and so after months of loneliness and hanging out in singles bars, he ended up marrying the first woman that said "Yes" to sleeping with him. Big mistake. His new wife gave the words "wicked stepmother" new meaning, and her two nasty daughters were a chip off the wicked block.

This man had a daughter himself—Ella—who was sweet, exceptionally beautiful but slow, much like Forrest Gump perhaps, which is not a big plus in a home full of cranky, average-looking women. And, as luck would have it in most fairy tales, the man soon died, too, leaving his daughter at the mercy of her stepfamily.

Life for the man's daughter was nothing like a box of chocolates after that. Her stepmother and stepsisters told her that with father gone, she would have to start earning her keep: "Make the beds, sweep the floor, cook dinner, polish the silver, clean the fireplace..." By the end of each day, the poor girl was tired and soot-faced, only to have her stepsisters cackle at her and call her "Cinder Ella." Still she never complained.

LIFE'S A BEAR

Donna Abear

Hard to believe, isn't it? With no time even to watch TV, poor Cinder Ella was unaware that she could appear on Jerry Springer or Ricki Lake and embarrass her stepmother and stepsisters on a national basis, the way they deserved. So she suffered in silence, cooking and cleaning and polishing for her thankless stepfamily. She might as well have been a housewife, so little were her efforts appreciated.

One day, the mean stepsisters came running into the kitchen, bubbling with excitement. "Look what we have in our hands," they shrieked, waving three tickets in front of Cinder Ella's face as she stirred the soup for dinner. "Tickets to the Oprah TV show. Mom is taking us next Friday. Too bad YOU can't go. Ha, ha, hee, hee!"

Cinder Ella would have been upset, except she had no idea what they were talking about. "What is an Oprah?"

The older stepsister let out a loud guffaw. "You don't know who Oprah is? Boy, you really are stupid!"

Cinder Ella did not like to be called stupid. "Well, stupid is as stupid was. Or was that chocolate?"

Both stepsisters looked at each other, thought about what Cinder Ella had said, and then burst into laughter again. No doubt about it, they thought. This girl is definitely playing with a short deck.

That night, as Cinder Ella lay on the lumpy couch in the basement, she still wondered what an Oprah was. Maybe it was time she watched a little television, she thought. So she snuck upstairs, and looked in the TV guide to see if she could find Oprah. As luck would have it (haven't you wondered how exactly "luck" would have anything?), there was a rerun of Oprah at 11:00 p.m., which just happened to be what time it was.

As the show began, the announcer said that they were looking for women who needed makeovers to appear on next Friday's show, and they flashed the number to call on the TV screen. Now, Cinder Ella figured she could probably use one of these "makeovers," since her stepmother and stepsisters were always telling her that she resembled the back end of a horse. Maybe if she looked prettier, they would like her better. (Like I said, the lights are on but nobody's home.)

As luck would have it, Cinder Ella was chosen to appear on the show (another fairy tale coincidence!). Now, whenever her sisters gloated that she wasn't going with them to see Oprah, she just smiled and said, "Oprah is as Oprah does...was...or is she chocolate?" (I think she's wising up. That ALMOST made sense.)

Well, imagine the surprise of Cinderella's stepfamily as they sat in the audience, while Oprah showed a "before" tape of each woman chosen for a makeover. There was Cinder Ella, telling Oprah that she was getting a makeover because her stepsisters, who were in the audience, said, "You look like the back end of a horse." Oprah, who thought that Cinder Ella was actually quite beautiful, promised that she would have a thing or two to say to Cinder Ella's nasty stepsisters.

The wicked stepmother and her nasty stepdaughters then tried to sneak out of Oprah's audience, but the security guard told them they could not leave until the taping was finished.

"Cinder Ella is going to pay for this," said the stepmother to her two daughters. "How dare she embarrass me on national television like this."

"You? What about us?" whined the wicked stepsisters.

"Oh, shut up!" said their mother.

Cinder Ella was the last makeover for the day, or as Oprah said, "We're saving the best for last. By the way, my friend Vanessa Williams recorded that song: 'Saaaaved the best for laaaassst!' " (It must be noted here that Oprah has many talents. Singing isn't one of them. However, as a multimillionaire with her own show, she must be humored occasionally.)

As Cinder Ella walked out onto the stage, the audience gasped in awe. Several men dislocated their tongues as they tried to pick them up off the floor. Even Oprah was shocked.

"Damn, girl! If you're a horse, I'd say you must be a thoroughbred!" "What's a thoroughbred?" said Cinder Ella.

"Never mind," said Oprah. "With your looks, you don't need to know. Now, where is your stepfamily sitting?"

Well, you can imagine what happened next. What do you mean you can't? Do I have to tell you everything? Okay, okay. Oprah humiliated Cinder Ella's stepfamily on national TV. Cinder Ella received several movie offers, posed for a Playboy centerspread, and has since married a fabulously wealthy movie producer and moved to the land of Oz. Actually, she moved to Hollywood, which she thinks is the land of Oz, and her husband hasn't had the heart to tell her yet that he is not really a wizard and he did not actually give her a brain.

Meanwhile, Cinder Ella's stepfamily appeared on Jerry Springer, Ricki Lake, etc., etc. They got over their humiliation quickly when they realized that these shows paid airfare, hotel and meals. Next, they made a fortune in royalties from their best-selling book, "The Dirty Truth About Cinder Ella."

The moral of the story: Stupid is as stupid does, and it is doing pretty well in the '90s, don't you think?

Chicago International Film Festival awarded major grant

The Chicago International Film Festival has been awarded one of only four prestigious new grants given by the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences. The $50,000 grant comes from the new Film Festival Fund, established by AMPAS to support the important work of film festivals.

"This grant is a great recognition for us," said Chairman of the Festival's Governing Board Daniel P. Coffey. "It acknowledges the quality of the artistic side of the Film Festival. It confirms that we have reached the highest level among festivals, something that has long been our goal."

Festival founder and Artistic Director Michael Kutz noted that this grant would benefit not just the festival but also the larger community.

"The grant allows us to expand our community outreach programs, a facet of our festival that has been growing in recent years. We feel that this is in the spirit of the grant, with its emphasis on making festivals more accessible to the community. The grant will also enable us to bring to Chicago even more noted directors from around the world to discuss their work with Chicago audiences," Kitz added. "These AMPAS grants are a major contribution to the financial and artistic well-being of the film community, and they will be important to festivals in years to come. I congratulate the other recipients in New York and Telluride."

Also honored with $50,000 grants are the New York Film Festival and the Telluride Film Festival. The New York International Children's Film Festival received a $10,000 grant.

The grant will be distributed this summer, and its impact will be felt at this year's 35th Anniversary of the Chicago International Film Festival, to held October 6-21.

COLOR: Autumn offers breath taking color, beauty

eties is the "turkey foot" seedhead on Big Bluestem, Illinois' native prairie grass, which turns a purple shade in the fall. There is also prairie dropseed with its deep red seedheads. Another prairie grass is Indian grass which grows 4- to 8-foot-tall, which has a tuft of seeds at the top and grass which turns metallic gold in the fall.

Many native wildflowers are also blooming. Some of the wildflowers commonly seen during the autumn months are the amber colored Goldenrod; asters, which are white, purple or blue in color; and bright yellow sunflowers.

"A lot of native wildflowers are blooming right now and that's a special thing," said Catherine Savage, marketing coordinator for the Lake County Forest Preserves. "A lot of the transformation that's going on in the trees is also going on in a lot of the native plants."

That's not to discount the beautiful trees.

Leaves always contain several colors of pigment, but in the spring and summer, chlorophyll masks the other colors. In the fall, the trees pull sugar from the leaves back into the trunk to store it for the winter months. As the chlorophyll breaks down in autumn, yellow, orange, red, blue and purple can be revealed.

"I think already some of the fall trees are more brilliant than in past years," said Buckhardt. "I've seen some maple trees that are absolutely scarlet red."

Typically, Buckhardt said the sugar maples have the "most brilliant colors" of orange and red but the oak trees also have "very rich shades of brown and deep red." Hickories and willows turn yellow in color, dogwoods and sumac become a fiery red, and the ash tree unveil regal purples.

Weather conditions this month are ideal to bring out the full array of tree colors.

"We've had almost a perfect combination of warm sunny days and cold nights, which really enhance the colors," said Savage. "Some spectacular stuff should go on here over the next couple weeks."

The Lake County Forest Preserve has 21,000 acres of preserves throughout Lake County, many of which provide great places to view the colors. Some of the best places for prairie grasses and wildflowers are at Grant Woods Forest Preserve in Fox Lake, Old School Forest Preserve in Libertyville and McDonald Woods preserve in Lindenhurst, according to Savage. Some of the better places for viewing tree colors are the Wright Woods Forest Preserve and the Ryerson Woods preserves, both located along the Des Plaines River in the southern part of the county, she said.

There are 12 designated trails in the forest preserve system. Free maps of the trails are available at the forest preserve's main office at 2000 N. Milwaukee Ave. in Libertyville, and the education center at Ryerson Woods, on Riverwoods Road south of Route 22.

For more information on fall color watching in the Lake County Forest Preserves or upcoming fall nature programs, call 948-7750.

Lincoln Park Zoo to unveil 'Twilight of the Gorilla'

As part of its commitment to teach people about gorillas and their uncertain future in the wild, Lincoln Park Zoo in October will open "Twilight of the Gorilla," an art exhibit featuring 60 large-size, original illustrations of mountain gorillas. Created by New York-based artist Bob Ziering, these powerful and haunting images highlight gorilla family life, the connection between apes and humans and the critical plight these animals face from poaching.

Made possible through the generous support of the Dr. School Foundation, the exhibit will be open to the public free of charge every day from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. now through Friday, November 19.

Lincoln Park Zoo's Education Department has scheduled throughout the fall a series of adult and children's programming about gorillas and other endangered great apes.

One of the most visited zoos in the country, Lincoln Park has become world-renowned for its successful gorilla breeding program. Much of this success has been credited to the Lester E. Fisher great Ape House, which enables gorillas to live close together in natural social groups, much as they would in the wild. Since the Ape House was built in 1974, the zoo has witnessed 44 western lowland gorilla births and has developed a "foster" parent program to help ensure that gorillas are raised among their own species.

For more information on "Twilight of the Gorilla," please call the zoo's Education Department at (312) 742-2053.

This and almost 60 other haunting drawings of gorillas by New York artist Bob Ziering is exhibited through Nov. 19.

A variety of activities are planned for the Autumn Harvest in the Wisconsin Dells.

ning to and from area hotels.

Returning to the festival in 1999 is the huge Autumn Harvest Fest Bash at the Tommy Bartlett Thrill Show site, complemented with live music, a craft fair and contests such as pumpkin decorating and scarecrow stuffing. Special children's activities during the bash include clowns, face painting, kid fingerprinting and a straw dig for candy and toys.

Experts from regional establishments will conduct educational sessions during the Autumn Harvest Fest Bash. Wine makers from Wollersheim Winery, Prairie du Sac, will discuss the art of wine making and inform attendees about the wines that best complement various entrees. A professional baker from the award-winning Cheese Factory Restaurant, Wisconsin Dells, will teach onlookers how to put the final touches on a fall dessert. Other sessions include pumpkin carving with a professional pumpkin carver.

On Sunday, Oct. 17, Autumn Harvest Fest will conclude with The Taste of the Dells outside of Black Bart's Stagecoach Buffet, featuring food from area vendors, a farmer's market and a fudge-eating contest.

Throughout the festival, visitors can view the spectacular fall foliage of South Central Wisconsin. The banks of the Wisconsin River can be seen via Dells Boat Tours and Original Wisconsin Ducks, while the area's wooded trails can be absorbed on an autumn hike or bike ride. Wollersheim Winery in nearby Prairie du Sac, Wis., will offer fall color tours, and on Oct. 16-17, Mid-Continent Railway Museum will run Steam Train Rides aboard an authentic Chicago & Northwestern

HOROSCOPE

Aries - March 21/April 20
Don't beat around the bush when having a heart-to-heart discussion with a loved one. Tell him or her exactly what is on your mind. This honesty will strengthen your relationship. A close friend needs your help with a family matter. While you don't want to get involved, you must. Help as much as you can.

Taurus - April 21/May 21
While you're not very motivated this week, Taurus, you have to get moving. There is a lot that you must do. Once you get started, you easily will accomplish everything on your "to do" list. So, stop procrastinating. That special someone has interesting news for you on Tuesday.

Gemini - May 22/June 21
You're on cloud nine this week, Gemini. You don't have many obligations, and no one is asking you for anything. Enjoy your free time, and pamper yourself a little. You deserve it. A loved one needs a shoulder to cry on at the end of the week. Be there for him or her.

Cancer - June 22/July 22
Don't let problems at work ruin a romantic evening with that special someone late in the week. He or she wants to treat you to the perfect outing. Don't put a damper on the evening by talking about your job. Let yourself go, and enjoy! Sagittarius plays a key role on Tuesday.

Leo - July 23/August 23
A close friend turns to you in a time of need this week, Leo. Try to help him or her out, and be supportive. Your help really means a lot to this person. An acquaintance wants to get to know you better. Don't get involved with him or her. He or she isn't telling you everything there is to know.

Virgo - Aug 24/Sept 22
Don't worry about an important meeting that you have during the middle of the week. Everything will work out perfectly if you just remain calm and in control. A close friend offers you some constructive criticism. Listen to what this person has to say, because he or she has your best interest at heart.

Libra - Sept 23/Oct 23
Don't feel guilty when you get angry with a close friend. He or she knows that you don't really mean the harsh things that you say. Just apologize, and everything will be back to normal. A loved one needs your help with a family matter. Do what you can for him or her.

Scorpio - Oct 24/Nov 22
Be there for that special someone this week, Scorpio. This person really needs you right now — even though he or she won't admit it. Try to find out what is bothering him or her. Your efforts will be appreciated. Capricorn plays an important role in your professional life on Wednesday.

Sagittarius - Nov 23/Dec 21
Look on the bright side of things when a potentially lucrative deal falls through this week. At least you have made some worthwhile contacts. They won't forget about you. A close friend drops by unexpectedly. Find out what is on his or her mind; listen to what this person has to say.

Capricorn - Dec 22/Jan 20
Don't be shy when meeting an intriguing person on Tuesday. He or she is just as interested in you as you are in him or her. Be yourself, and you're sure to make a good impression. The person whom you've been seeing calls it quits. Don't be upset; he or she wasn't right for you — and you know it.

Aquarius - Jan 21/Feb 18
Don't let a business associate boss you around this week, Aquarius. This person doesn't have any authority over you. Just focus on your responsibilities, and you'll do fine. The higher-ups will be impressed with your efforts. Cancer plays an important role late in the week.

Pisces - Feb 19/March 20
Don't ignore a problem in the making when it comes to your personal life. An acquaintance is trying to make you look bad in front of loved ones. Be yourself, and you're sure to thwart his or her efforts. A close friend has a surprise for you. Enjoy!

Mexican Folk music performance at CLC

Sones de Mexico Ensemble Chicago will perform at the College of Lake County Studio Theatre, 19351 West Washington St. in Grayslake on Friday, Oct. 15 at 8 p.m. The show is co-sponsored by the David Adler Cultural Center in Libertyville and the College of Lake County.

Sones is a cultural group that specializes in a style of traditional Mexican folk music called son, and its close relative, the huapango. This music is found throughout Mexico in different regional and stylistic variations. Traditionally, this is played on special occasions and fiestas called fandangos where the most colorful, joyous and upbeat sones and huapangos are played and danced until sunrise. The ingenious and improvisational poetic lyrics are called coplas. They often praise the natural world and the beauty of the dancers. Sones de Mexico Ensemble Chicago tries to recreate this festive atmosphere with an energetic show that both educates and entertains.

The group's cross-cultural view of Mexican music links son to the diverse ethnic roots of Mexico's mestizo culture: Native American music, Spanish-Arabic Andalusian music, and the often forgotten influence of Black music in Mexico. Shows are often fast paced; they feature a variety of indigenous musical instruments, including the strumming jarana, the huge guitar-ran bass guitar, its smaller relative, the vintage vihuela and its modern offspring, the guitar. Also featured, among the melodic instruments is the violin, the mandolin, the armadillo shell mandolin called concha, the requinto jarocho, and among the percussive ones, the pre-columbian huehuet drum, the teponaztli slit-drum, and the ayoates ankle-shakers, the donkey jaw, and an innovative use of the drum set.

Tickets for this very special performance are $12 for the general public, $10 for CLC students, alumni, seniors 65 plus, children under 12 and Adler Cultural Center members. They may be purchased by calling the College of Lake County's Box Office at 543-2300. For more information, call the Adler Center at 367-0707.

'Superstar' super-scary, super-bad

Any more, "Saturday Night Live" can't make people laugh unless they're showing reruns from the late seventies and early eighties.

Producer Lorne Michaels' latest comedic offering, Superstar, showcases another unfunny SNL character and drives another nail into their coffin.

Not since the original Wayne's World has an SNL character spin-off movie actually been a good idea.

While Wayne and Garth's shwinging teenage antics were endearing, SNL cast member Molly Shannon's awkward Catholic schoolgirl character is just plain embarrassing, and a little creepy to boot.

Becoming a superstar is all geeky Mary Katherine Gallagher wants out of life—that and a faint-inspiring, Hollywood-style kiss from Sky, the school beefcake and dance sensation, played by fellow SNL cast mate Will Ferrell.

Unfortunately, Sky is already spoken for by Evian (Elaine Hendrix), the prettiest cheerleader/bottled water in school.

Pathetic Mary Katherine, forced to stand by and watch the couple be cutesy in the hallway, acts out her fantasies of Sky with soft-porn abandon against a tree and later a stop sign pole. The phrase "squirming in my seat" can't even come close.

I wondered what all the young, unsupervised children I saw in the audience thought of her tonguing the bark and at one point, squeezing her breasts in front of a mirror and moaning over how big they were.

Alas, Mary Katherine sees her chance to win Sky's affection by entering a school talent show to impress him with her singing and dancing. And it doesn't hurt that the grand prize is a trip to Hollywood to appear as an extra in a movie.

Superstar includes all the expected material seen in the SNL skits. Mary Katherine sticks her fingers in her armpits for a good whiff, excitedly recites monologues from made-for-TV movies, and frequently falls down with her legs in the air and her white from special-ed class daydream about being in a supermodel documentary, a synchronized dance routine in the middle of the cafeteria, and Will Ferrell playing a hip-hop Christ figure, but they just aren't enough to save this sinking ship.

I'll have to agree with the insightful words of wisdom from Evian the cheerleader to Mary Katherine Gallagher.

"You're not a superstar. You suck!"

I give this movie one and a half popcorn boxes out of five.

Exactly how many licks does it take for SNL Productions to stay down for the count? Apparently not enough.

19th Annual Roadside Flower Sale features treasures created by volunteers

Sale runs through October 17 at Botanic Gardens

Colorful roses, fragrant lavender and elegant grasses have been carefully dried and combined to create exquisite arrangements for the Chicago Botanic Garden's Annual Roadside Flower Sales on October 15-17 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Every Wednesday for the past 19 years, a group of Garden volunteers known as the "Wednesday Weeders" has harvested hundreds of flowers, grasses, pods and colorful foliage from the Garden's exquisite 385 acres. The volunteers then transform their funds into more than 400 dried floral arrangements, wreaths, potpourri, decorative candles and stationary to be sold at the annual Roadside Flower Sale.

In addition to purchasing hand-made botanical items for holiday and hostess gifts, visitors can also enjoy tips on decorating their home and making their own gifts with the Garden's specially-collected dried flowers, pods and grasses. An instructional video on dried flower arranging featuring Roadside Flower Sale designer George Blanas will run continuously throughout the sale.

Each year, the Chicago Botanic Garden volunteers generously donate the proceeds of the sale to Garden programs and projects.

For more information about the Roadside Flower Sale, call the Chicago Botanic Garden at 835-5440.

Lake County Health Department urges senior citizens to get flu shots

With the influenza (flu) season rapidly approaching, the Lake County Health Department/Community Health Center urges senior citizens and persons with chronic diseases to obtain flu shots. Seniors and others should also consider pneumococcal vaccine is given each year, the pneumococcal vaccine is recommended every five years or so. Together, influenza and pneumonia are the fifth leading cause of death for older adults in the nation.

The Health Department is offering influenza and pneumonia vaccinations to senior citizens, age 65 and older, at 16 sites throughout the county during October and November. It is important that seniors bring their Medicare part B cards, which will cover both pneumonia and flu vaccines. For those not on Medicare, there will be a $10 fee for the flu vaccine, and a $20 fee for the pneumonia vaccine, based on ability to pay. Persons covered by HMO's are encouraged to seek these shots through a participating physician.

Influenza is an upper respiratory infection that can make person of any age ill. Flu season in the United States typically runs from December to April. Flu symptoms include fever, chills, cough, and soreness and aching in the back, arms and legs. Although most people are ill for only a few days, some (particularly older adults and the chronically ill) can experience a much more serious illness.

Senior citizens are recognized as a special risk group for flu and its complications, as illness can be very debilitating and hospitalization for flu and its potentially deadly complication, pneumonia, are common.

Those who have been stricken with influenza in the past are still vulnerable to getting the disease again. The 1999 vaccine will offer protection against three influenza strains: A/Beijing, A/Sydney and

B/Beijing. At each Health Department Flu Clinic, nurses will interview and screen individuals requesting shots. Under specific circumstances, the shot may be postponed or a referral made to a physician for consultation. Those circumstances include the following:

- A patient has a history of allergy to eggs and egg products.
- A patient has had Guillain Barre Syndrome.
- A patient has a fever or an active infection.

For more information, contact your family or clinic physician or the Health Department's Immunization Program at 360-3114.

Illinois nursing homes rank no. 1 in restoring resident independence

According to the latest statistics from the Health Care Financing Administration (HCFA), Illinois nursing homes have the highest national percentage of residents who are independent in bathing, dressing, toileting, transferring, and walking and have the third highest national percentage of residents who are independent in eating.

These statistics reflect the state of Illinois' strong emphasis on providing residents therapy, rehabilitation, and restorative care services. The Illinois nursing home industry has one of the most comprehensive care continuums of physical rehabilitation in the nation. This care continuum has made a tremendous impact on promoting resident independence and well-being.

In many states, when an elderly person has completed therapy under Medicare, little is done afterwards to reinforce the results of therapy. As a result, the person either shows no continued improvement over the next weeks or months or declines functionally. In Illinois nursing homes, residents continue to receive rehabilitation from the therapy department and restorative care from the nursing department to supplement the work of the initial therapy program.

In general, therapy generally refers to intensive, short-term therapy to help someone recover functionality from an acute illness or accident and is usually covered under Medicare or private insurance. Therapy generally involves a period of one to four weeks.

Rehabilitation refers to less-intensive, longer-term approaches to maintain or slowly improve functional ability, conducted by the therapy department. Restorative care refers to the same types of long-term approaches, except that instead of being done by therapists, the approaches are done on the living units by nurses and nurse aides to reinforce the work of the therapy department.

At the heart of a restorative care program is the integration of residents' therapeutic needs into their daily routines. For instance, a resident may have the goal of walking more independently and be involved in a Restorative Ambulation program.

Following the directions of the facility's physical therapist, a nurse aide would have the resident ambulate using a rolling walker every afternoon from her room to the nurse's station for medications. The resident would use mealtime as an opportunity to practice ambulation skills in walking with staff assistance to the dining room. The goal is to combine rehabilitation with activities of daily living to promote resident independence.

During the late 1980's, the State of Illinois established a special 60-hour course in rehabilitation for nurses, and a rehabilitation certificate for nursing assistants to help keep residents' muscles strong and flexible to maintain their mobility and independence. Specially trained certified nurse aides (CNAs) complete a three day course and must pass a proficiency exam to become a physical or occupational (PR, OR) rehab aides, working under the supervision of a rehab nurse and/or licensed therapist to help residents achieve their therapeutic goals.

The State of Illinois is one of the few states in the nation to have specialized training programs in rehabilitation for nurses and nurse aides.

Most Illinois nursing facilities employ these specially-trained nurses and nurse aides to contribute their expertise in working hand-in-hand with the therapy departments. The combination of therapists, nurses, and nurses aides working together to maximize resident functionality has proved to be very successful in helping residents achieve excellent clinical outcomes, as the state of Illinois' statistics attest.

"Physical and occupational rehabilitation programs have served as a great prototype in promoting resident independence," states Sandy Jacobson-Lerner, President of Comprehensive Therapeutics, Ltd. "These programs have worked to enhance the full continuum of care, continuing the addressing residents' functional needs long after their days of therapy under Medicare have run out."

In addition, the State of Illinois has also reinforced the importance of rehabilitation through financial support.

Statistics over the years have shown that as rehabilitation and restorative care programs have increased in Illinois nursing homes, the level of resident independence has increased. "Greater resident independence is a primary indicator for quality care," states Terry Sullivan, executive director of the Illinois Council on Long Term Care, a nursing home trade association. "Illinois' strong emphasis on rehabilitative and restorative care has made a dramatic impact in providing greater quality care, increasing resident independence and improving resident quality of life."

Rehabilitative services begin

Beverly Mieszanek, Lake Villa, is greeted by Patricia Behling, Chief Operating Officer, Victory Surgery and Treatment Center, Lindenhurst. Mieszanek was honored as the first patient to receive physical therapy through Victory Rehabilitative Services located in the center, 1050 Red Oak Lane, Lindenhurst.

YWCA to celebrate Breast Cancer Awareness Month

Information is available to the public about free mammograms and informational seminars.

The YWCA of Lake County ENCOREplus Program will be recognizing Breast Cancer Awareness Month in October by setting up educational sites across the county. ENCOREplus, a breast cancer and reproductive health program aimed at education and early detection of breast cancer, will be available to sign women up for free mammograms and educational seminars about women health.

"Early detection is the key to beating breast cancer," said Carol Carr, Program Manager of ENCOREplus. "Women who detect their cancer early have a 97 percent chance of survival rate. Mammography and Breast Self Exam are absolutely vital for early detection and survival."

Breast Cancer is the most common form of cancer among women in the United States, affecting one in eight American women. Women should receive their first mammogram between the ages of 35 and 40 and should receive an annual mammogram after 40. Breast Self Exam should be done each month and a Clinical Exam should be received each year.

The ENCOREplus Program provides free educational seminars to the community. The free seminars are available to community groups, churches, employees or any other group interested in how to effectively catch breast cancer at its earliest stages and saving women's lives.

For questions, to sign up for a free services or to schedule a free seminar, contact the YWCA ENCOREplus Program at 782-3142 or stop by the YWCA at 2133 Belvidere Rd., Waukegan.

Are poor grades laziness or a sign of learning troubles?

Hi Dr. Singer,

My problem involves my husband and my son. My son has always had trouble with learning and school. His grades have always been just one shot shy of flunking and he gets more discouraged as he gets older. Right now he has just begun Jr. High. My husband is convinced that this child is just lazy and that this is all within his control. I am convinced that there is something missing here and that it isn't in his control. He has been evaluated for ADD by our family doctor and the doctor does not see ADD as being a problem. He has been tested by the school and found to have no learning disabilities, but I am still feeling like there is something more that we need to look at. C.B.

Dear C.B.,

Without actually evaluating your son myself, it becomes a bit difficult for me to give you direct recommendations on how to handle him. I will speak generally about what I know and what I have seen and what I do and you can apply that to what you know about your son. I would highly recommend,

PARENT'S PLACE

though, that if you have questions about your son, we should meet and speak directly about that and possibly even screen him for the help I can give him.

All kinds of things can cause problems with learning. It sounds like you have already knocked out a few possibilities by having him tested by the school and seeing the doctor. I suppose that somewhere in the history of the human race there has been a kid who just didn't want to do the work, but for a very long time, my experience of kids has been that they are usually not lazy, but avoidant of a painful situation.

Usually, from what I have seen, although a lack of motivation is probably related to a learning problem of some type, it is often the result of the learning problem and not the cause. If you had to do something that was always hard for you and that you almost always failed, you would become frustrated and avoid the task. There are only so many times that you will try to run through a brick wall before quitting. It hurts too much! I believe that kids start out with a desire to absorb information and through different kinds of things that block that absorption, they try and try until they can't get anywhere and then stop trying. It can look like laziness and attitude, but it may not be.

You asked me if someone can have a problem with learning even though they look average and without learning disabilities on the school testing. The answer is absolutely, yes. Now don't get all upset and think that the school hasn't done its job. They more than likely have. There are certain things the school is responsible for and certain things they are not. The types of problems I work with can often present as very normal on a school testing. They are not necessarily required to pick up these types of issues because they are very specific and not global.

A child can have processing problems in several areas and still not present as a kid with learning disabilities. I don't work in the schools so I may be wrong, but I understand that the school basically helps kids with extra academic support. They might help kids finish homework or organize homework. They might help kids with learning academic-type skills. The main difference in what I do vs. what I understand regular school learning disability services to do is that I, through practice and repetition, teach the child how to absorb things better and more efficiently. I make the process of absorbing everything in the world around the child easier and more automatic. This creates more balance in learning skills and frustration becomes far less intrusive.

These skills need to be working correctly or academics become very difficult. I do not try to target the strong skill and present things to that side. Rather, I take the weak skill and build it and build it and build it. These are not academic areas. These are the things that underlie and make academic learning possible. Things like memory, processing speed, auditory and visual processing and multi-tasking or the ability to handle many things at once, sequencing, organization, etc.

As I said above, there is no way to tell if your son is actually dealing with this issue unless he is actually screened. You did not leave your number so I will suggest to you that if you are wanting to pursue this and find out more, call again and I can either set you up for a screening or send you information and you can decide later. Either way, don't just write this off to laziness. Your instincts are correct. Follow up!

MINDING YOUR OWN BUSINESS

Don Taylor

Rising above the Entrepreneurial Plateaus

(Part one of a two-part series)

In simple geographic terms, a plateau is a high-level flat spot. In the Southwest, these high, flat areas are called buttes or mesas. You'll find quite a number of plateaus in Arizona, New Mexico, West Texas and Colorado.

In normal business cycles there are also plateaus or flat spots. These times of stagnation are frustrating for business owners because there is no easy or obvious answer for taking the business to a higher level.

For example, a manufacturer works hard to grow his business and maxes out his plant's production capacity. The owner can no longer meet increasing demand without a huge outlay of capital. Is the expansion risk worth the potential reward?

A service business owner provides great training and incentives to her employees, and sales increase steadily for three years. However, some employees grow weary of the steady push, push, push and relax their efforts. Sales flatten out, and stay flat. No amount of encouraging seems to help. What happened to the team?

A new-car dealership sells about 900 new vehicles each year. The owner has tried numerous growth strategies, but can't seem to quite reach the 1,000 unit sales mark. Is there a way?

These are typical entrepreneurs. They have a dream of building their own small businesses into great success. I've worked with hundreds, and most of them are bright, talented, hard-working folks.

Because they are entrepreneurs they must wear all the hats. They handle the marketing, do all the purchasing, keep the records, manage the finances, pay the bills and serve the customers.

If they do it well, sales grow, the workload increases, the hours grow longer, more customers call and stress escalates. One day they simply can't do any more. They've hit the entrepreneurial plateau.

There are three entrepreneurial plateaus I want to discuss in this and next week's column: the profit plateau, the people plateau and the performance plateau. Let's start with the money mesa.

The low-profit plateau

All too often the earnings from a business don't keep pace with the growth. Many small-business owners underprice their products and services. They are so concerned that someone may complain about their prices, or that they may lose a sale because of price, that they enter the market too low and are never able to recover.

I'd like to share a five-step profit plan for rising above the low-profit plateau. It will help you find the right range for your products or services.

Step One: Know your true costs. You must include your cost of goods sold, operating expenses, your personal income needs, margin for growth and expansion

Kohl's on roll with new Round Lake Beach store

By Angela Sykora
Staff Reporter

The new Kohl's Department Store in Round Lake Beach opened its doors to large, enthusiastic crowds during a grand opening celebration Oct. 8.

According to store manager Warren Wiedower, people were lined up outside waiting to get in.

"It was a fantastic day. We were well-received by customers," he said.

Kohl's had a "soft opening" from Oct. 3 to Oct. 7 where employees were able to familiarize themselves with the store and prepare for grand opening day customers.

Wiedower said that although pre-opening hours were not publicized, many people came into the store to shop, especially in the evening.

He said he feels the Kohl's company is "bringing another good neighbor" into the area.

Their goal, he said, is to "take care of customers and build a long-term, successful company."

R. Lawrence Montgomery, Vice Chairman and Chief Executive Officer of Kohl's Department Stores said that along with the Round Lake Beach store, Kohls held grand openings for 17 stores in six states, including Illinois.

Kohl's, a 37-year-old company based in Menomonee Falls, Wis., has created significant growth over the past 20 years by selling name-brand housewares and clothing merchandise at discount prices.

such as, Dockers, Lee, Levi's, Hagar, Champion, Jockey, Nike, Reebok, Healthtex, Vanity Fair, Villager, Pfaltzgraff and Krups, among others.

Kohl's reported earlier in October that sales for the five-week period ended Oct. 2, 1999 increased 21.7% over the five week period ended Oct. 3, 1998. On a comparable store basis, sales increased 6.9%.

For the 35 weeks ended Oct. 2, total sales were up 22.9% while comparable store sales increased 8.9%.

Ingleside resident Deborah Lambert brought her 10-year-old daughter Sarah, and her friend

Anne MacDonald, 10, of Round Lake Beach, to the new store for some serious shopping.

As part of Kohl's grand opening, the store employed community members from various local organizations to work shifts as baggers. Wages earned went back into that group's fund.

Round Lake Park Mayor Ila Bauer put in her six-hour shift with a smile and a sense of humor.

Bauer commented that Kohl's was "good to have here," and that it would likely bring in other businesses.

Kohl's will be entering the Dallas/Ft. Worth market with 11 stores. New stores will also be located in Mechanicsburg, Pa.; Coon Rapids, Minn.;

Grandville, Mich.; Lansing, Mich.; Aurora, Colo. and Round Lake Beach, Ill.

As of Oct. 8, Kohl's has 257 stores in 24 states including Colorado, Delaware, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Maryland, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, New Jersey, New York, North Carolina, North and South Dakota, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Tennessee, Texas, Virginia, West Virginia and Wisconsin.

Mortgage firm predicts Y2K jitters for rates in fourth quarter

First Home Mortgage Corp., one of the nation's leading mortgage banking firms, today predicted that while mortgage rates will stabilize during the first two months of the fourth quarter, ranging from 7.75 to 8.25 percent for a typical 30-year fixed rate mortgage, concerns over Y2K issues may cause rates to fluctuate further during the last 30 days of the year.

"Jitters over instability in the financial markets as the year 2000 approaches may lead to increased demand for Treasury bonds as a safe haven for funds, causing a drop in bond yields and a related decline in mortgage rates late in the fourth quarter," said Tom Fiddler, executive vice president of First Home Mortgage. "Until then, however, broad business spending to update computer systems—plus corner consumer stockpiling—in preparation for the millennium will continue to have a favorable impact on the economy."

Fiddler noted that housing starts and sales should continue at exceptionally high levels through the fourth quarter, but they also may diminish during the month before the new century due to temporary uncertainty over the economy. He predicted that consumer confidence will increase following the turn of the millennium, along with continued record employment and strong home sales.

"Our advice to consumers today is to look to short-term mortgage instruments, such as one, three or five year adjustable rate mortgages," Fiddler said. "Moreover, while mortgage rates are still at historically low levels, consumers will have opportunities to refinance if rates decline in the future."

He predicted that the year 2000 will be a very good period for mortgage rates because interest rates for Treasury bonds are currently so much higher than the core inflation rate. "As the spread between bond yields and the underlying inflation rate narrows to traditional levels, mortgage rates should go down as well," Fiddler said.

He pointed out that today in 1999 it is easier than ever to obtain a mortgage. At First Home Mortgage Corp., new computerized orientation programs allow consumers to receive preliminary mortgage approval within 10 minutes and a final mortgage commitment in less than a week, compared to an average of 30 days a few years ago.

In addition, First Home offers down-payment assistance to home buyers through innovative programs like Nehemiah, which grants money to qualified buyers to purchase single and multi-family properties in the United States. Under the program, a home buyer can receive up to 6 percent of the final sales price for down payment and closing costs on a residence that meets or exceeds Federal Housing Authority (FHA) guidelines and Nehemiah requirements, which include a two-year roof certification and one-year home warranty.

"Mortgage brokers today have a wealth of resources and special programs to meet each home buyer's individual need," Fiddler said.

Founded in 1987 with offices in Lake County, First Home Mortgage Corp. has funded more than $5 billion in residential loans, making it one of the Midwest's largest independent mortgage bankers. First Home was named 1997 Company of the Year and was nominated 1998 Company of the Year by the Illinois Association of Mortgage Brokers. It offers mortgage lending services throughout most of the country. For more information on First Home, contact Ellen Strum at 394-5300 or contact First Home on their web site at www.1sthomemortgage.com.

High ceilings, low appeal

Volume ceilings are becoming less popular among home buyers, reports Town & Country Homes. An increasing percentages of buyers have chosen the additional living space option, usually a bedroom or loft, in recent years. One exception is the master suite, where buyers are less eager to abandon the eye appeal of high ceilings.

Bankruptcy claims Gurnee's Planet Hollywood

Officials of the Planet Hollywood restaurant chain announced Oct. 12 that it had closed nine restaurants—including the Gurnee Mills location—and file for bankruptcy.

The Associated Press reported Oct. 12 that Planet Hollywood International Inc. would soon file a reorganization plan with Delaware courts.

The company said in a statement that more of the chain's 80 restaurants may be closed.

A public hearing had been scheduled Oct. 12 in the village of Gurnee to hear evidence and comment from residents regarding whether the restaurant would lose its liquor license.

Reports had surfaced that minors had been purchasing alcohol at the Gurnee Mills location, according to village officials.

Analysts said that, despite cost controls and a reduction of corporate overhead, aggressive expansion and increased competition had hurt the company.

The company's two largest shareholders have agreed to provide a cash infusion of about $30 million as part of the reorganization.

Chairman and Chief Executive officer Robert Earl said that he believes the company can return to long-term profitability.

The chain was co-founded by Sylvester Stallone, Demi Moore and Bruce Willis.

TAYLOR: Pricing is key factor in determining growth and a return on investment.

Step Two: Know your competitor's prices, products and value. Your competition may offer a lower price without delivering the same quantity or quality.

Step Three: Know the advantages and benefits you offer that no one else does. If you don't have any, find some. Otherwise you are stuck on the low-profit plateau.

Step Four: Set a price that covers your costs and delivers real value to your customers. Then stick by it. If any customers question your price, go to step five.

Step Five: Sell the value you add. Show the customer that the quality, performance, results, etc that you give them is worth every penny you are charging. Point out the advantages and benefits they get only from you. Yes, you may lose a sale now and then, but it is a rare customer who prefers low-price to obvious good value.

Next week I'll offer suggestions for rising above the people and performance plateaus. Don't miss "Rising above the Entrepreneurial Plateaus" part two.

AT A GLANCE

A DIGEST OF STORIES MAKING HEADLINES THROUGHOUT OUR REGION

Accident leaves critically injured

Gurnee—An accident in Gurnee on Oct. 7 left a Warren Township High School student and a Wisconsin woman in critical condition.

An investigation by the Gurnee Police Department revealed that the 1995 Chevrolet Camaro driven by A.G. Hancock and Rob Logan was traveling south on Route 21 between Grand Avenue and Washington Street when the vehicle "lost control" and went into the northbound lane, police said.

The vehicle then collided with a 1995 Ford Escort driven by Laura Herald, 25, of Kenosha, said Deputy Chief Henry Schwarz of the Gurnee Police Department.

As of Tuesday, according to Schwarz, both Hancock and Herald were listed in critical condition. Herald was taken to Lutheran General Hospital in Park Ridge.

Old Kmart to be demolished

Mundelein—A long-vacant building in the southern end of Mundelein will soon be no more.

Demolition of the old Kmart building, on the corner of Routes 45 and 60, is set to begin at noon on Oct. 18. The building has been vacant since January of 1994.

In its place will be a new Cub Foods store, which is scheduled to open in March or April of next year. The store will consist of 68,450 square feet of retail space, an additional retail space of 30,000 square feet, and two outlots of 6,000 square feet each, according to village officials.

"[The store] will act as a catalyst for the redevelopment of the whole area," said Dave Lehnart, real estate manager for Cub Foods' parent company, Supervalu.

In May of this year, the village board voted to grant a sales tax rebate to the grocer, therefore helping with the $12 million cost for the acquisition of the building, demolition and rebuilding. During the first four years of the agreement, Cub Foods will receive 45 percent of the village's portion of the sales tax. This amount will total approximately $112,500, village officials said.

Auto dealership denied by board

Fox Lake—By a split vote, Fox Lake Village Board members denied a request from a used car dealer who wished to locate his business on a site off Route 12.

Village officials admitted they did not have an ordinance in place which specifically encourages or discourages different types of businesses to come to the village. Mayor Jim Pappas, who cast the deciding vote against Mike Head's used car dealership, vowed to work toward such an ordinance.

Voting against denial were trustees Cindy Irwin, Stephen Moulis and Dona Shearer. Trustees Ted Beskow, Greg Murrey and Kevin Hunter agreed with the denial. The zoning board had recommended approval, but the building committee of the zoning board said no.

Former trustee pleads guilty to theft

Round Lake Heights—Former Round Lake Heights trustee Patricia A. Kassner, 58, of 1724 N. Lotus Ave., has admitted to stealing approximately $26,000 from the Lake County Fair.

Kassner was placed on three years' probation Oct. 5 after pleading guilty to felony theft.

Kassner had taken $11,000 from the fair this year, and $15,000 last year while working as a cash handler.

She had voluntarily turned over $10,500 to investigators, claiming to have spent $500 of the original $11,000.

Kassner was ordered to repay the $15,000 she stole in 1998, and is required to perform 200 hours of community service work and complete any counseling programs ordered by her probation officer.

New Kohl's opens

Round Lake Beach—The new Kohl's department store at 230 Rollins Road in Round Lake Beach had its grand opening Oct. 8.

"It was a fantastic day. We were well-received by customers," said Warren Wiedower, store manager.

As part of Kohl's grand opening, the store employed community members from various local organizations to work shifts as baggers. Wages earned went back into that group's fund.

Round Lake Park Mayor Ila Bauer put in her six-hour shift with a smile and a sense of humor.

Before heading back to the office after her 8 a.m.-2 p.m. shift, Bauer had one more important task to complete.

"I can't wait to shop," she said.

Girl Scouts send treats to troops

Wadsworth—Girl Scouts from Troop #199 of St. Patrick's School in Wadsworth have sent special care packages to military troops stationed in Kosovo.

The Scouts have shipped approximately 30 pounds of Halloween treats to troops overseas through the national volunteer program Operation M.A.L.E. (Make a Life Enriched).

They also included a disposable camera and asked that the men take pictures and return the camera.

Troop #199 is part of the Gurnee Service Unit #711, which is sponsoring the military troops throughout the year. The next care package will be sent in time for Thanksgiving.

Lake County hoops star dies in crash

Libertyville—Libertyville residents are in mourning over the death of four people in a two-vehicle crash. Matthew Heldman, the town's favorite son basketball player, was killed in that Oct. 10 crash. Heldman, 23, and his father, Otis, 53, were killed in a two-vehicle wreck which also took the lives of two other Libertyville residents, Francis and JoAnn Osterman.

"The players probably have not gotten together to talk about it yet. When they do at the wake on Thursday, they will be able to recall the fun times before this most unfortunate incident," said Max Sanders, Libertyville's long-time coach, who coached Heldman.

"He was an outstanding young man. Everyone would have loved to have him as a son," Sanders said.

Matthew Heldman was pronounced dead at the scene.

Scouts to serve dinner

Antioch—Bring a hearty appetite and a bib. The 39th Annual Antioch Boy Scout Troop 92 Spaghetti Dinner will be Sunday, Oct. 17.

The spaghetti dinner including cole slaw, bread, dessert and drink, at cost of $4.75 for all-you-can-eat will be served noon-7 p.m. at the Loyal Order of Moose Lodge 525 on Route 173 west of downtown Antioch. Children 5-years-old and younger may eat for free.

"This is such an exciting day for us every year," troop scoutmaster Wayne Veach said. "This event is our single fund-raiser for the year to offset camping fees and equipment costs for the scouts."

Troop 92, a 25-member troop for boys ages 11-17, meets weekly at The Scout House in Williams Park on Main Street in Antioch. Scouts will be on hand helping to serve the estimated 900-plus guests anticipated.

For tickets, which can be purchased at the door, or further information, contact Linda Veach 838-0855.

Antioch women win on game show

Antioch—A $1 investment proved to be a $25,000 winner for a Antioch mother-daughter combination.

Joy Palmer and her mother, Judith Bronder, teamed up to win $25,000 in the Illinois' Lottery 25th Anniversary "Illinois Luckiest" TV game show.

Mom, "standing in" for daughter, split the $50,000 runner-up prize with another female contestant during the show which aired on WGN-TV Channel 9 of Chicago Oct. 9. The winnings came during Bronder's playing of Rolling Thunder during the program.

"Mom had bought the ticket on her way home, and I opened it," said Palmer, mother of two and step-mom of three. "We agreed to split any winnings."

Show CO-hosts Linda Kollmeyer and Jeanne Sparrow joined contestants following the show taping at WGN-TV studios in Chicago.

St. Peter's assists Bosnian family

Antioch—St. Peter's Catholic School headed a "Welcome To America!" Pack presented to a Bosnian refugee family.

Four car loads of St. Peter's students, parents and St. Peter's Family Association Faith Development Committee members delivered several hundred dollars worth of food, supplies and toys to a family of three in Chicago. The caravan made its way to the one-room studio loft style apartment the morning of Oct. 12.

The pack is arranged to "set up" the new family in an apartment with everything short of furniture.

Upon arrival, the group was greeted by 25-year-old Jasmin Kavkovic, his 23-year-old wife Jasmina and 4-year-old daughter Melissa.

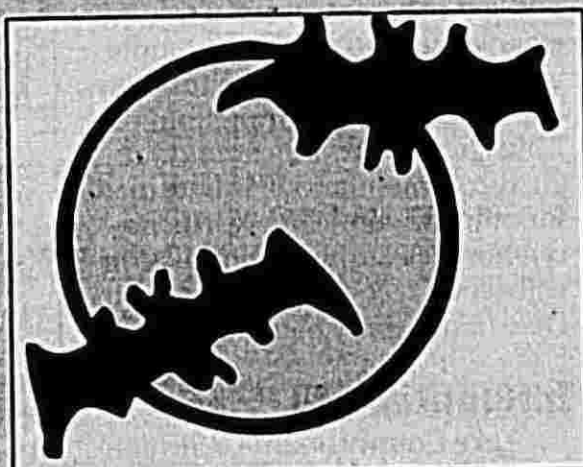

The family came to the United States through Germany, after having to leave Bosnia. Jasmina Kavkovic's sister and her family, which came to America in 1998, were on-hand as well.

Hike delight puts trails in spotlight

Lake County has gone "hike happy" in a campaign fostered by the Lake County Forest Preserve Dist. to show off autumn colors and new scenery. Twelve trails have been identified for special Hike Lake County recognition. If you hike any seven trails by Nov. 30, record your jaunts and receive a special shield that can be affixed to the official Lake County Hiking Staff.

The staff is handcrafted of genuine Ozark hardwood and lacquered to bring out the natural grain. Your personal walking stick is 54 inches tall, has a leather lanyard and has space for the hiking shield.

Wherever you live in the county, you won't have to travel far to get to a trail. In order, the trails are: 1. Buffalo Creek (near Buffalo Grove). 2. Cuba Marsh (near Barrington). 3. DesPlaines River Trail North (near Gurnee). 4. DesPlaines River South (near Libertyville). 5. Grant Woods (between Fox Lake and Lake Villa). 6. Greenbelt (south of Waukegan). 7. Lyons Woods (near Beach Park). 8. McDonald Woods (near Lindenhurst). 9. Old School (Libertyville). 10. Ryerson Woods (Deerfield near Riverwoods). 11. VanPatten Woods (Wadsworth on Rte. 173). 12. Wright Woods (near Lincolnshire on St. Mary's Rd.).

You can get an official log book where shields and hiking sticks are available at four locations: general district offices at Libertyville, Ryerson Woods, Lake County Museum at Wauconda and Brae Loch Golf Course, Grayslake. Plans are to vary the trails every fall. There will be a new shield each year for collectors.

Hike Lake County guarantees a different perspective of the countryside, plenty of fresh air and healthful exercise. Sounds like an unbeatable combination. Happy hiking!

Mutual support benefits everyone

Members of Home Builders of Lake and McHenry Counties applauded enthusiastically when Lt. Gov. Corrine Wood announced while addressing the group recently that $261 million will be allocated to Lake County for transportation purposes over the next five years. McHenry County will receive nearly $98 million.

The allocations will cover a variety of state initiatives and will be in addition to highway construction and repair expenditures. In her talk, Wood emphasized that government wants to create an Illinois that promotes development and business success. State political leaders want to be good, indeed, to the building industry as the industry has been good to politicians, particularly at campaign time.

Practical political considerations aside, though, Wood was not pandering to the influential and politically active builders. Indeed, both the state and the builders benefit when there is a balance between development and open space. Wood emphasized that state government has a responsibility to support wildlife and natural resources and preservation of open space while supporting existing infrastructure. The end result should be the creation of a high-quality lifestyle for all citizens, a Utopian ideal, perhaps, but laudable.

Wood also emphasized that the Ryan administration will push implementation of the Open Lands Trust Act, the most ambitious open space campaign in Illinois history, an edict providing $160 million over the next four years to purchase and preserve open space. Builders routinely regard open space as "inventory" for future construction, so backing the Open Lands Trust comes as taking the high road for greater good. A commendable position. Let citizens hold the builders to their word.

The simple fact is that the state, in this case, the people of Illinois, and developers, each can have it their way. The possibility is at hand for a "both ways" solution. There will be a daily double pay-off if elected representatives and builders both practice what they preach.

Road warriors

Officials from three of Lake County's fastest growing communities of the 1990's are the spearheads behind the formation of a new transportation focus organization. Called Citizens to Protect Quality of Life Through Better Transportation, the leaders are State Rep. Sidney Mathias (R-Buffalo Grove), Vernon Hills Mayor Roger Bryne of Vernon Hills and Grayslake Mayor Pat Carey. Mathias was mayor of Buffalo Grove before elected to the General Assembly.

We hope they are on to something. "Life in the lanes" (highways at morning and afternoon drive time) is getting more hectic all the time. Answers desperately are needed and needed now.

Couple of thoughts: 1. In their deliberations, we suggest that Mathias, Bryne and Carey establish the link between their support of explosive residential growth policies of the past decade and the currently clogged local highways; 2. We hope the citizens' endeavor is not another front for construction of the controversial and discredited Rte. 53 extension.

VIEWPOINT

Navy finds way to build for future

Next time you hear someone complaining about wasteful governmental practices, tell them about the drill halls at Great Lakes Naval Training Center built in 1942 that finally are being phased out as part of a $700 million recapitalization program for recruit training.

Slapped up hurriedly in 1942 to provide for the influx of World War II recruits, the all-wood structures were designed for a life of five years. Built with green lumber, layered beams began delaminating almost immediately. The Navy has kept the drill halls going with ingenuity, determination and regular infusions of maintenance dollars.

Recycling can go only so far, so now there will be rebuilding at the base. Hundreds of civilian jobs are being created for a decade.

For Capt. Craig Hanson, the youthful appearing commander of the Recruit Training Command at Great Lakes, the new drill halls can't come soon enough. Hanson sees the new masonry and steel replacements as symbolic of the Navy's commitment to provide the best training facilities possible for 60,000 recruits a year.

In 2001, the Navy will begin a 10-year replacement of worn out barracks with modern structures that will house 1,056 men and women each. Beginning with reveille at 4:30 a.m., the Navy boots will live, breathe, train and eat Navy life under one roof, leaving the building only for specialized training. Hanson said the new look in training is designed to make the 9 1/2 week cycle as efficient as possible.

AOC Shawn Burmeister, a division commander responsible for 94 recruits during the intense training period, typifies instructors committed to producing fleet-ready sailors. An engaging Californian and career Navy man, Chief Burmeister is brimming over with information about Great Lakes, such as 1,142 buildings on 1,629 acres with 26 miles of roads and streets, and a population of 32,000 persons. Burmeister's military rating is chief aviation ordnance man. When on sea duty, he normally will be assigned to an aircraft carrier.

BILL SCHROEDER
Publisher

Burmeister explained how recruits gear their entire boot experience to pass "Battle Stations" with flying colors. That is a 12-hour test, just before graduation, where the recruits are involved in simulated ship-board events involving general quarters, emergencies, handling casualties and repelling borders.

"They know it's coming, but they never know exactly when battle stations will sound," Burmeister explained.

A separate Battle Stations building containing the replica of a Navy vessel is due to be built in 2007.

Navy recruit training constantly evolves to keep up with new technology and demands placed on young sailors. The $700 million will be put to good use.

Wilderness plan

Citizen input will be provided for at a public hearing from 4 to 7:30 p.m. Oct. 25, at Lake County Museum, Wauconda, for the Chicago Wilderness Biodiversity Recovery Plan. The plan has been marked by a controversial tree clear-cutting strategy to promote prairie restoration. When four days of public hearings throughout the Chicago area are concluded Oct. 28, recommendations will be made for official action. The Northeastern Illinois Planning Commission will act on recommendations at its Dec. 16 quarterly meeting.

Influential job

Lake County Board Chairman Jim LaBelle (R-Zion) is expected to play an influential role in the affairs of Chicago Metropolitan 2020, a regional planning think tank. LaBelle was hired as a senior adviser. The group, put together with the impetus of George A. Ranney Jr., a resident of rural Libertyville, will study jobs, employment, housing and economic health.

What a team!

A reader in California and a baseball historian supplied this column with the names of other players on the great Chicago Cub team of 1938, probably the best team man for man ever assembled at Wrigley Field. We remembered the stars from that team, but Don Weiskopf produced a box score from Sept. 28, 1938, that identified the every day players responsible for a National League pennant. Regulars we didn't mention were Carl "Sheep" Reynolds, centerfield, and Rip Collins, first base. Six pitchers got into that memorable game where Gabby Hartnet's homer sealed victory as darkness fell. Clay Bryant started. Pitching in relief were Jack Russell, Vance Page, Larry French, Bill Lee and aging Charlie Root, who got the victory. Pinch hitters that day included Ken O'Dea, Gabby's backup; Joe Marty, a utility outfielder, and Tony Lazzeri, the former Yankee great, picked up during mid-season as a reserve. And remember, Dizzy Dean was a member of the pitching staff. What a team! Like no other Cub team before—or since, in my opinion. Thanks, Don, for the memories.

Grunge report

What is this old fogie missing? Seems boys and girls have two different dress codes for the homecoming dance. The young women are dressed "to the nines," party dresses, styled hair, appropriate jewelry, etc. Their partners look like they got their dance clothes at a rummage sale. Few neckties. No jackets. We spotted one gallant male outfitted with a T shirt. Not even tucked in over his baggy pants. I was told clothing standards vary from school to school.

PARTY LINES

PARTY LINES, THE LAKELAND NEWSPAPERS' COLUMN OF POLITICAL OPINION, IS PREPARED FROM STAFF REPORTS.

Leafblad rips GOP over 2000 opponent

At this early juncture, all members of the Class of 2000, Lake County Board members whose current terms are winding down, appear to be candidates for re-election.

All of the incumbents are Republicans, except Carol Spielman.

Two of them, Rep. Suzi Schmidt (R-Lake Villa) and Rep. Bonnie Thomson-Carter (R-Ingleside) are engaged in active fund raising for their re-election efforts. One member of the Class of 2000, County Board Chairman Jim LaBelle, Zion representative, already has a challenger as Party Lines reported recently.

Rep. Larry Leafblad (R-Highland Lake) when asked about prospective opposition next year, routinely replies, "I always have someone running for my job."

This time it's Molly Larson, a neighbor and one-time Leafblad ally who quit a party job to try and unseat the veteran GOP leader who has been making points handling touchy elements of the soon-to-be adopted new Unified Development Ordinance (UDO). Leafblad is livid over the Larson entry into the primary field next spring, calling her candidacy a "clumsy, ham-handed attempt on the part of Republican leaders to muzzle me."

Rep. John Schullen (R-Libertyville) keeps in the public eye with his deep involvement in county government and his party post as Lake County GOP chairman. The "quiet man" on the County Board, Rep. Stevenson Mountsler (R-Barrington) is considered a good bet to run again.

If anyone in the Class of 2000 faces uncertainty, it's Rep. Bob Grever (R-Lake Zurich), who has been dealing with upheaval in his personal life and constant criticism from independent Republicans. Grever has a strong following in Elmhurst and is expected to fend off Spielman, Highland Park resident, a fixture on the Democratic faction on the County Board, is running again.

Copy Cat: Will the real Abe please stand up

Shotguns OK?

Members of the Grayslake Village council acted aggressively to usher a Lake County Fairgrounds gun show out of town, but they didn't raise an eyebrow over a regional shooting competition last weekend at a fashionable gun club on the opposite side of town. Both women and men participated in the competition using shotguns.

Food and fun

Not all political fundraisers benefit politicians. Saturday, Oct. 16, the Republican Hispanic Council of Lake County will raise money to assist Millie Negron who requires a liver transplant. Council members are selling tickets at $15 for singles and $25 for couples for food and fellowship at San Luis Mexican Restaurant, 50 S. Greenbay Rd., Waukegan.

Lincoln time

Members of the Antioch Township Republican Club will turn their annual dinner Oct. 23, into a tribute to Abraham Lincoln. The dinner at Maravela's Banquet Hall, Fox Lake, will feature Dick Anderson, who will recreate Lincoln's words and likeness with a program, "Meet Mr. Lincoln." There might be two Mr. Lincolns in attendance if Dr. William Dam shows up in his stove pipe hat, string tie and black frock coat. The Fox Lake physician does a dandy impersonation of the Rail Splitter.

Calabresa won't switch

Carol Calabresa, president of the Lake County Forest Preserve District, gave a thumbs-up signal for switching district vehicles to a more environmentally friendly fuel. Calabresa, though, will continue to fill the tank of her car with conventional fuel. The new fuel called "B20," is a combination of diesel and salad dressing. About a third of the district's fleet of 85 trucks completed a successful experiment early this month. The project was the brainchild of Bob Scherer, district fleet manager.

'Favorite Democrat'

To the surprise of absolutely no one, State Sen. Terry Link (D-Verona Hills) announced his intentions to run for a second term. As a freshman state senator, Link has been a blur of activity, getting 45 bills signed into law and pushing popular initiatives involving women, gun control and early childhood development. The Waukegan native is most proud of his ability to forge coalitions among members of both parties, becoming the unofficial "favorite Democrat" of some Republican colleagues.

Pfarr-fetched quips and quotes

With it and wisdom that would be lost forever if a columnist didn't occasionally clean off his Bermuda Triangle of a desk:

Three of the best one-liners from Rodney (I don't get no respect) Dangerfield:

"My wife and I were happy for 20 years. Then we met."

"My father carries around the picture of the kid who came with the wallet."

"The sweepstakes form letters I receive announce, 'You may already be a loser.'"

And here, from the Atlanta (Ga.) magazine, are some great truths children learn about life:

•No matter how hard you try, you can't baptize cats.

•When your mom is mad at your dad, don't let her brush your hair.

•You can't trust dogs to watch your food.

•The best place to be when you're sad is in Grandma's lap.

Quotable quotes:

Conservative columnist Pat Buchanan: "Bill Clinton's foreign policy experience stems mainly from having breakfast at the International House of Pancakes."

Talk show host Jay Leno: "Say what you will, when Dan Quayle was in the National Guard not one Viet Cong got past Muncie, Ind."

Radio personality Wally Phillips: "Centuries-old wisdom says there are five things in life money can't buy: Health, happiness, a baby's smile, the love of a beautiful woman, and a ticket to heaven."

Also from Wally: "Baby is the only word I can think of that always makes people feel good. Carry a baby onto an elevator full of scowling, self-involved adults and suddenly they all start making funny faces, grinning and whispering kootchy-koo."

Playwright George Bernard Shaw: "The test of a man or woman's breeding is how they behave in a quarrel."

THE PFARR CORNER

Jerry Pfarr

Elizabeth Dole: "The next president of the United States ... whoever she may be ..."

Sign on an office bulletin board: "Smile. It's the second best thing you can do with your lips."

Poet Marianne Moore: "Superior people never make long visits."

Aha, look what I just came across: A "50-Plus Job Seekers' Guide." Yours truly did some of the writing for the 44-page booklet (not that he ever wants a full-time job again).

The organizations behind the job-search guide are Catholic Charities, the College of Lake County, the Illinois Department of Employment Security, the Northeastern Illinois Area on Aging, the Private Industry Council, Manpower and Manpower Technical.

The guides are available at those places. They also are the folks who stage the annual "50-Plus Job Fair" at the College of Lake County in Grayslake.

It's a serious book, but it does include an occasional laugh such as redneck comedian Jeff Foxworthy's advice: "Never take a can of beer to a job interview."

And this ideal from Kathie Lee Gifford, the singer and television personality, who says her father's advice was: "Find something you love to do, then find a way to make a living at it."

That certainly works for most people in the newspaper business, an always interesting, never-a-dull-moment occupation.

I loved newspaper work but eventually landed in an even sweeter pot of jam: retirement.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

University Station developer has everyone in his pocket

Now that wannabe Lakehurst developer Martin Tuohy, the Lake County Board, the newspaper editors, the cities of Waukegan and North Chicago, our esteemed state legislators and some shopping mall recyclers have spoken in favor of siting the new university at the defunct Lakehurst mall, just think of whose money they are speculating with—OURS. $22 million of our money.

Yes, they are speculating. My dictionary defines "speculate" as "conjecture without a firm factual basis." "To gamble recklessly." "A business investment involving the risk of loss (a speculative builder). If these people were good speculators they wouldn't have to work anymore."

These are the same speculators who have had big cost overruns when remodeling the County Building—who spend $12 billion on Illinois FIRST and can't account for the lottery income for education—who haven't the gumption to speculate on their lakefront—who can't understand why the Tollway Authority is $900 million in the hole—who suddenly discover that the previous office holder spent—well, you get the idea. Do you want them speculating with your money?

I say take the $11 million from the state and build a permanent addition to the Grayslake college campus. Let the speculators rebuild Lakehurst with their own money as a satellite campus. Then they can also wait for the train to stop at the "station."

Douglas Ploss
Antioch

Caring legislators

It's nice to know that we have two of the most active and caring legislators in our district. Both Senator William Peterson and Representative Mark Beaubien have done an outstanding job for Round Lake Beach and for the entire Round Lake area. They take the time to listen to our concerns and look at our needs. We have received project funding for several years in a row now due to these two men. I am sure they will continue in their efforts to represent all their constituents to the best of their ability and to improve the quality of life for us all.

Trustee Rich Hill
Village of Round Lake Beach

Faux environmentalists

George Ranney, the developer of Prairie Crossings in Grayslake is always out and about talking about the environmental benefits of the low density development with lots of open space. Lake County's other self-proclaimed guru of open space,

'Mike' Graham, also talks of the environmental impact of development, raising the issue of congested roads and crowded schools.

If you listen to Graham say, you could Ranney and these two are real environmentalists and really interested in preserving Lake County's diminishing open space.

But if you look at their recent actions, we can see again how hypocritical George Ranney and F.T. 'Mike' Graham really are.

Ranney recently went before the Grayslake Plan Commission requesting an additional 129 residential units into his approved 317 unit Prairie Crossing development. A massive 40 percent increase.

Gee, George, you seem not to care how your development impacts on our already congested roads, crowded schools or increases of our taxes. You have tried to fool us into believing your development is good and everyone else who builds a home is bad.

Drive down O'Plaine Road and just south of the tollway on the east side we can see another tribute to F.T. 'Mike' Graham's idea of preserving open space.

The Rudd Farm, Graham's deceased relatives for which Graham acts as trustee, has been bulldozed, trees cut down, pristine and environmentally sensitive land leveled for another 300 unit development.

My, my, Mike, you seem to want to cash in again and have the public pay. You have said the public pays for the roads, sewer, water, schools and preserving is always cheaper for the building—this again shows you for the hypocrite you are.

Clinton contriva

Well it appears that we have witnessed another contrived emergency in the form of the military action in Yugoslavia, by President Clinton for the purpose of displacing the looming scandal of "Chinagate," and others, from the news media. "Chinagate" of course is the reportedly treasonous transfer of sensitive missile technology and hardware to Communist China, (our deadly enemy) in exchange for Red China's contributions to the 1996 Clinton-Gore re-election campaign, representing an example of bribery and treason unmatched in American History.

As I feel that a large number of Americans remain uninformed about the Chinagate tragedy I was tremendously encouraged to discover that the National Impeach Clinton Action Committee at 1 (888) LEAVE DC., after attaining its goal of impeachment proceedings against President Clinton, is now informing the effort to demand a thorough investigation of Clinton and Chinagate. The appalling seriousness of Chinagate can be seen in media reports indicating a former defense department official stating, "Our technology has helped the Chinese perfect missiles that are more reliable, more accurate, and more difficult to monitor or track as we try to prevent them from ever penetrating our air space," the U.S. Government estimating Communist China possesses over 100 medium to long-range ballistic missiles.

If launched from China's nuclear submarines, these missiles can now strike cities like San Francisco, Chicago, and Boston with accuracy reportedly thanks to Clinton. Apropos to this is the statement by a former Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of staff that "We are presently defenseless," with no ICBM missile defense system in place. In view of this eminent danger, we as concerned Americans should immediately call the committee at the above number and contact our congressmen and demand a thorough investigation of Chinagate and Clinton.

Wetlands project gets doused by county panel

Plan called for cutting down trees to create wetlands near Wadsworth

By JOHN ROSZKOWSKI
Regional Editor

A Lake County Forest Preserve panel has poured cold water on a plan to create a wetlands in a wooded area along the Des Plaines River near Wadsworth.

The forest preserve's development, restoration and planning committee is asking Wetlands Research Inc. to withdraw its request to create a wetlands area on a 10-acre parcel of land located about two miles south of Wadsworth Road.

The issue became a source of controversy after some residents and committee members questioned Wetlands Research's plan to cut down a number of trees on the parcel.

Sandy Cole, chairman of the forest preserve's development, restoration and planning committee, said the committee felt the project just didn't make sense from an environmental standpoint.

Cole said the plan would involve cutting down almost 60 percent of the foliage canopy in that area, many of which are high quality trees. She said the committee felt that was "unacceptable."

"It would be a real disservice to cut down trees for a science experiment," Cole said.

Wetlands Research Inc. has been involved in wetlands mitigation and banking projects for years as part of ongoing research that's spanned nearly two decades on 550 acres of forest preserve property located near the river.

Cole said most of the projects the organization has been involved with have been beneficial to the environment, but the committee did not feel that was the case in this instance.

Cole said the committee has asked Wetlands Research Inc. to withdraw its request to do wetlands banking in that area. It is also asking the Army Corps of Engineers to deny the use of the property for that purpose.

Don Hey, chairman of Wetlands Research, Inc., said the committee's decision was a "political decision, not a scientific decision."

Hey said his organization has a long-term agreement with the forest preserve to do wetlands research along the Des Plaines River. It has been successful in restoring many previously distressed areas and returning them to wetlands.

In the case of the 10-acre parcel, Hey said it was never the intent to cut down all the trees on the site. They merely wanted to create a more open canopy by cutting down some of the lesser quality, non-native species of trees, and to restore the area to what it was like in pre-settlement days.

The Wetlands Research board of directors will meet on Oct. 18 to discuss the issue and it will be up to the board how they want to proceed. But Hey admits it is unlikely they will move forward with the project, in light of the forest preserve committee's objections.

"The (forest preserve committee's) vote flew in the face of our agreement with the county to do wetlands research at the site. We'll have to change our research agenda."

Veterans gearing up for weekend rally

By JOHN ROSZKOWSKI
Regional Editor

Organizers of the upcoming rally at the VA Medical Center in North Chicago are expecting a large turnout for the weekend event.

"We've got the word out to any number of people and we've got responses from any number of people," said Johnnie Allen, superintendent of the Veterans Assistance Commission of Lake County, which is helping organize the rally. "I would expect between 2,500 and 3,000 (to be there), maybe more."

The purpose of the rally is to protest drastic cuts in medical services at the North Chicago facility. The rally will be held at 1 p.m. Oct. 16 at the flagpole in the front of the VA campus.

A federal report has recommended relocating all of the inpatient services at the hospital to other VA facilities in the Chicago and Milwaukee area.

Allen said "everyone is really concerned" about the impact of the cuts on the community of North Chicago as well as on all the veterans who utilize the hospital's services.

The elimination of inpatient services at North Chicago will mean the loss of close to 900 jobs for Lake County, according to Allen. Perhaps even more importantly, it will mean many Lake County veterans will not have needed access to health care.

There are an estimated 51,000 veterans who live in Lake County, about half of whom are currently enrolled to use the services offered at North Chicago.

Allen himself served 30 years in the military, including tours of duty in World War II, Korea and Vietnam. He said the proposed cuts are a case of the government not living up to promises it made to veterans years ago.

"It's really getting to the point where veterans are on the losing end and we're getting tired of it," he said. "We put our lives on the line for our country and we were promised these things after we got out of the service. Here they are taking away from us, little by little."

The rally is being organized by the Veterans Assistance Commission, in conjunction with local veterans groups and the American Federation of Government Employees Local 2107, which represents employees at the North Chicago VA.

Many dignitaries have been invited to attend the rally. Among those who have agreed to attend so far include State Sen. Adeline Geo-Karis (R-Zion); State Rep. Susan Garrett (D-Lake Forest); Suzi Schmidt, vice-chairman of the Lake County Board; Dr. John Dorsey, a sociology instructor at the College of Lake County in Grayslake; and Dr. Orville Lipps and Dr. John Xantopoulos, physicians at the North Chicago VA. Other local, state and federal officials will have representatives at the rally. Some area vets are also expected to speak.

- Object of the game is to amass as many of the 136 points as you can. Simply review the week's schedule of games, listed on entry form, and decide which game you are SUREST of picking a winner in. Write the name of your projected winner on the 16-point line. If that team wins its game that week, you win 16 points. Write the name of your second-surest winner on the 15-point line, and so on down to the 1-point line, which game you figure to be a toss-up. Next, fill in Tiebreaker 1, the total points scored by both teams in the week's designated game. If this step fails to produce a winner, the judges will apply Tiebreaker 2, total offensive yardage from scrimmage in this game. If a winner still doesn't emerge, a drawing will be held among those contestants still tied. Decisions of the judges are final. The weekly statewide winner of the contest will receive $1,000.
- Any entry form that does not contain a legible name, address, etc., will be disqualified.
- Entries that fail to forecast a winner from each and every game will be disqualified, as will entries that fail to distinguish between the Jets and Giants of New York and other similar teams.
- No points are awarded on tie games or in case any game is not played for any reason during its scheduled week.
- Entering POWER POINTS constitutes permission by contestant for his or her name and photograph to be used for news and reasonable promotional purposes at no charge.
- Employees of this newspaper and their immediate families are ineligible to participate.
- Any inquiry about or protest of weekly results must be made by noon on the Friday following the announcement of winners.
- No purchase necessary. Facsimile game entry forms will be accepted. Enter contest by dropping entry form into POWER POINTS container at participating co-sponsors.
- Weekly deadline for entry will be noon, Fridays except when noted otherwise on weekly entry form.
- Neither this newspaper nor any co-sponsor will be responsible for illegible entry forms or those lost, stolen or damaged in any way.
- Limit one entry per person per week. Each entry must represent the original work of one entrant; "group" entries, "systems" or other attempts to enter multiple entries will be disqualified. Filling out extra forms and putting your friends' and relatives' names on them violates this rule. Any such entries are destroyed prior to grading.
- Contestants must have reached the age of eight (8) years by the Sunday of any week's play.

Cute, cuddly animals can also be pests

Nature is wonderful, colorful, and relaxing. But nature can also bite, scratch and cause diseases. Nature is difficult to control but can be influenced sometimes by the simplest measures, according to David Harris-John, operations director for Smithereen Exterminating Co., a Chicago area company specializing in pest management.

"Our job as pest control technicians is to try and influence nature in the safest yet most effective ways, so that you can enjoy the pleasures of nature without the pain," he says.

The main way Smithereen accomplishes this is by using Integrated Pest Management or IPM. "This incorporates using all we know about an animal's behavior to influence its activity so that it does not become a pest. Contrary to some people's opinions, we only rely on pesticides after all other methods have been implemented," he explains.

"One of the essential parts of IPM is the role that you can play in the program to influence the activities of these creature in the correct way.

"Take a look at some of the larger animals found in the yards, parks and nature preserves in this area. Raccoons, squirrels, skunks and possums are 'cute' creatures that we like to observe. They use their natural instincts to forage for food and feed their young."

Because their natural home range borders on ours, these animals have learned to scavenge for food that we put out for them, he says. "Sometimes we provide this by accident, sometimes by design — but whatever the reason, they find it easier to utilize this food than to work their natural ranges."

Harris-John says that coyotes have come an increasing problem in parts of the area in recent years. These wild dogs think nothing of foraging close to houses for food and scraps or attacking a domestic dog or cat. Of course, the same diseases that coyotes carry will also affect domestic pets.

"Many of the animals that take advantage of this habitat are the older, sometimes diseased creatures that would not have been able to survive in their woodland habitat. Normally, nature would have controlled them and prevented any contamination from spreading. However, humans, by entering the equation, have upset the balance."

Harris-John says you can enjoy these animals in the wild without encouraging them to cohabit around and inside your homes. He suggests these simple precautions:

- Don't feed them. They can take care of themselves.
- Keep garbage and similar wastes covered.
- Report any burrowing activity or live sightings.
- Keep yards free of accumulated lumber and other items that provide ready shelters.

- Don't overfill bird feeders.
- Don't approach any wild animals.
- Keep ground cover short around the exterior of buildings. Most animals do not like exposing themselves.

All wild animals are protected and special licenses required through the Dept. of Natural Resources in order to trap, control or relocate them.

"Our technicians are trained to deal with these problems and will readily advise you on ways to influence nature so that you only see its better side," he says.

Smithereen has been in business in metropolitan Chicago for more than 100 years. Headquartered in Evanston, it has branches in Mundelein, Chicago, Midlothian, Northlake and Kansas City.

Revolutionary deck surface eliminates maintenance and health risks from your deck

A deck is a great addition to any home and can be a popular area for family activity, however, regular staining and sealing of its wood can be expensive — up to $1,200 a year for common-size decks. In addition to the cost of maintenance, wood decks even can pose health risks.

Now, there is a revolutionary solution to these problems with Durable Deck — an innovative product that does not replace your old deck, but instead covers it in a durable, safe and attractive vinyl.

Most decks are made of treated wood, which can deteriorate quickly and look unsightly unless routinely pressure-washed and sealed using expensive stains and water-repellent sealers. What's more, the chemicals used to pressure-treat lumber contain toxins, which can pose health risks and raise environmental issues. Finally, there's the classic health risk — a wood splinter or rusty nail protruding from the deck can penetrate the skin and can cause a serious infection.

Because Durable Deck is a retrofit product and requires no structural change to a home, a building permit is not needed in most areas and easily can be installed by either the homeowner or a contractor.

Chairwoman of RL Planning and Zoning Commission dies

By ANGELA D. SYKORA
Staff Reporter

Patricia Joy Kohlmeyer, 61, of Round Lake, died Oct. 12 at Northwestern Memorial Hospital in Chicago.

Kohlmeyer, known to friends as "Patti," was a resident of Round Lake since 1958. She worked for her family-owned business, A Tire County Service, with her husband Edward and son.

She was also employed as a controller by Anchor Coupling and Warren Electric.

Kohlmeyer served as an active member of the Republican Party Committee for Lake County, and held many board positions including the Avon Township Republican Club. She was also an Avon Township Trustee.

She served eight years on the Round Lake Planning and Zoning Commission, including two years as chairwoman.

She loved and would do anything for Round Lake, as shown by the time devoted to both elected and volunteer civic activities.

Kohlmeyer attended Calvary Presbyterian Church in Round Lake. She loved snowmobiling and was president for many years for the Harbor Snowmates.

Round Lake Village Administrative Advisor Ray Wolfel, who had known Kohlmeyer for five years through politics and community involvement, said she was "square in the middle of everything" concerning the community.

"There's a big hole (now). They (the Kohlmeyers) were at every event," said Wolfel.

"It's a great loss. She was an incredible person, very family and village-oriented, in that order. She put her village right up there," he said.

"Everyone in the County knew her." Lake County Board member Larry Leafblad had also known Kohlmeyer both politically and socially.

"I was just in love with her. We had a close friendship. 'She was a major pillar of the community,'" said Leafblad.

Kohlmeyer leaves her husband of 41 years, Edward Kohlmeyer, of Round Lake; her loving son, Michael (Danette) Kohlmeyer; cherished grandson, Austin Kohlmeyer; two brothers, Jack (Theodora) Steffen of Spring Hill, Florida, and Leonard (Jane) Steffen of Mount Prospect.

She also leaves a brother-in-law, John (Beverly) Kohlmeyer of Friendship, Wis.; five nephews and two nieces; four great-grandchildren; three great nieces; and many loving and supportive friends.

Kohlmeyer was preceded in death by her parents Leo and Josephine Steffen, and mother and father-in-law Edward and Caroline Kohlmeyer.

Visitation will be from 2 p.m. to 9 p.m. Oct. 15 at Justen's Round Lake Funeral Home located at 222 N. Rosedale Court in Round Lake.

Visitation will continue Oct. 16 from 9-10 a.m. at Calvary Presbyterian Church located at 510 North Cedar Lake Road in Round Lake.

The funeral service will be at 10 a.m. at the church, with Rev. Lisle Kauffman officiating.

Inurnment will take place at Highland Memorial Park in Libertyville.

Memorials may be made to the Round Lake Village Beautification Committee, the Greater Round Lake Area Fire Protection District or Calvary Presbyterian Church.

Everyone with sticks are invited to join in

Families, scout groups, high school students, fitness clubs, retirees and even dogs are hiking Lake County to earn rewards in the Lake County Forest Preserves' first Hike Lake County program.

Participants who hike seven of 12 designated Hike Lake County Forest Preserve trails are rewarded with a commemorative shield for their hiking stick. No hiking stick? No problem. Beautiful Ozark hardwood staffs are available for purchase at several Forest Preserve office sites.

Since the Sept. 1 introduction of the new hiking program, over 6,000 travel logs have been distributed and many people have already collected their shields.

The program's overwhelming popularity challenged Forest Preserve staff to keep up with demand. The original printing of 5,000 travel logs was gone within two weeks of the program's start. A second printing, twice as many as the original order, was delivered soon thereafter.

To earn a commemorative shield, participants must hike seven of 12 designated trails before the end of November and record their hikes in an official

"Hike Lake County" travel log. Trails in this fall's program include:

Buffalo Creek (Buffalo Grove); Cuba Marsh (Barrington); Des Plaines River Trail (Gurnee); Des Plaines River (Libertyville); Grant Woods (Fox Lake); Greenbelt (Waukegan); Lyons Woods (Beach Park); McDonald Woods (Lindenhurst); Old School (Libertyville); Ryerson Woods (Deerfield); Van Patten Woods (Wadsworth); Wright Woods (Lincolnshire).

Each fall, the Hike Lake County program will feature new trails and a colorful new shield. Hikers can earn them all and fill their hiking stick with colorful reminders of autumn hikes in their Lake County Forest Preserves.

For more information, to receive your free travel log and trail maps, to purchase a walking stick, or to turn in your completed travel log, call 367-6640. Or stop by one of the following Lake County Forest Preserve offices: Brae Loch Golf Course (Grayslake), General offices (Libertyville), Lake County Museum (Wauconda), Ryerson Woods (Deerfield).

Poet will present free reading at CLC

Gerald Stern, a nationally recognized poet and one of the most significant poets in today's literary world, will present a free reading at the College of Lake County on Oct. 21. The program will begin at 11 a.m. in the Studio Theatre on the Grayslake Campus.

Many well-known literary critics have praised Stern's writings. Leonard Michaels, in a New York Times Book Review article, called Stern "a very brilliant moving poet—very subtle at times and often marvelous." Stern presently resides in New Jersey and New York City and is working on a new book of poems and a memoir.

The poetry reading is free and open to the public. For information, call 543-2956 or 543-2040.

Gurnee resident Art Crowley watches as a B-17 Bomber from WWII prepares for take-off at Waukegan Regional Airport Oct. 11. The plane, which has been restored to its original condition, had just landed from Oshkosh, Wis. and will be available for public tours Oct. 15-17. ## B-17: Flights for rent

MacBeth is expecting a very big crowd over the weekend.

"It's going to be huge, absolutely huge up here," he said.

In addition to the B-17, MacBeth said some other aircraft from the World War II era will also be on display. In addition, some of the original members of the Tuskegee airmen plan to visit the airport as part of the activities.

The Tuskegee airmen were the only black fighter squadron during World War II. The squadron became famous because it never lost a bomber to enemy fire during the war.

"It's really one of the interesting stories of World War II," said

MacBeth.

The Waukegan Regional Airport is located at 55 Harbor Drive, just off of Green Bay Road and south of Wadsworth.

The Experimental Aircraft Association is organization for aviation enthusiasts. The Lake County chapter was formed in 1972 and has about 80 members.

During the winter months, the local chapter meets monthly at the State Bank of the Lakes in Grayslake the third Thursday of every month. Anyone wishing more information can contact MacBeth at 223-7658 or visit the association's web site at www.weebastie.com/EAAA14.

BAN: Board flip flops burning ban

hearings in unincorporated areas of the county, and the overwhelming majority of residents at the hearings spoke out against a ban.

Carter said she had received hundreds of calls and letters from people who were against a leaf burning ban or restrictions, and only three or four from people who supported it.

"I think this is how government should work when people's voices are heard," she said.

Not everyone agreed with the board's decision, however.

Board member Robert Sabonjian (D-Waukegan) was one of the six members to support the proposed burning restrictions. He said the issue is really about "courage" and voting to protect air quality for people who suffer from leaf burning smoke.

"This should be a vote on public health, not a political issue," he said.

The Lake County Administrator's Office had originally discussed an outright ban on leaf burning throughout the unincorporated areas. However, the board's Health and Human Services Committee eventually recommended a partial ban with restrictions on the times of year people could burn.

The committee's recommendation called for banning leaf burning during the months of June, July and August, and restricting leaf burning to Monday, Wednesdays and Saturdays, from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m., during other months of the year.

Dale Galassie, executive director of the Lake County Health Department, said the committee's recommendation was a good compromise and "the appropriate thing to do."

The health department says studies have shown leaf burning contributes to respiratory problems for people with asthma and related illnesses.

"From a public health standpoint, do people have to burn every day? I don't think so," he said.

But some board members felt restricting leaf burning to certain days was not a good alternative, either.

Board member Robert Grever (R-Kildeer) said restricting leaf burning to certain days would be even worse than having a ban because everyone burns at the same time, causing the smoke problems to be much worse during those periods.

Rather than a ban or restrictions, Grever said the county should focus its efforts on educating the public on the alternatives to leaf burning. "To this point, I have not heard of any viable alternatives," he said.

Some members who had originally supported a ban or restrictions voted against them on the board floor.

Fox example, board member Sandy Cole (R-Grayslake) had voted in favor of the partial ban and restrictions in committee, but then voted against the recommendation on the board floor.

Cole, however, had suggested the issue be tabled and returned to committee for further study. The board rejected that motion by a 11-10 vote.

Audrey Nixon, chairman of the Health and Human Services Committee, suggested perhaps leaf burning restrictions could be imposed in more densely populated areas, while exempting the more rural townships. However, other board members argued it would be unfair to treat certain parts of the county differently than others.

Nixon, who supported the leaf burning restrictions, said she can sympathize with people who feel they need to burn leaves but still believes something more needs to be done to protect public health.

"I still say this issue wouldn't have come up before the Health and Human Services Committee if there wasn't a problem," said Nixon. "There is a problem. Whether we want to face it or not, it's a health problem."

"I do hope this isn't an end to doing something about this problem. It isn't going to go away."

PORTER: Speculation surrounds resignation

not be able to continue his leadership role on the appropriations committee because of a 1995 law that set term limits for committee posts. Members of the House can now serve only four two-year terms.

Porter said that he wanted to spend more time with his family and that burn-out was not a factor. He added that though he found excessive partisanship in Washington, his constituents expected members of both parties to work together to accomplish their goals, and that is what he tried to do.

He also noted that the 10th District is not a "single-issue" district.

Porter said that the trust constituents put in him allowed him to follow his conscience on issues such as the President's impeachment.

"This (trust) has allowed me to focus on human rights, environmental issues, biomedical research, education, Social Security reform, gun control, family planning, foreign affairs and other policy matters both they and I have felt are important to our nation," Porter said.

Cohen, the only candidate to date, commended Porter for his service to the people of Illinois. He called Porter a good friend to Israel and said Porter had a long and distinguished career representing the people of northeast Illinois.

"I wish Mr. Porter the best of luck in whatever endeavors he pursues," Cohen said.

ty and Waukegan Sports Hall of Fame induction following dinner.

Proceeds from the evening will be used to present a $1,000 scholarship to a high school senior interested in pursuing a career in broadcast or print journalism.

Lake County athletes will be honored for excellence in athletic competition or making significant contributions to sports during the program.

Included are five former Waukegan High School student athletes inducted into the Waukegan Lions Club Sports Hall of Fame. They are David Aho, Larry Hanzel, Ed "Minnow" Manoiian, Irene (Hukkala) Salata and Mark Tiffany.

Two former student-athletes to be brought into the Lake County High School Sports Hall of Fame are Johnny Johnson Jr. of North Chicago Community High School and Jill (Stamison) McMullen of Lake Forest High School.

The late Keith Ryan was a popular sportscaster on radio and cable television in the Lake County area for nearly a quarter of a century. Ryan worked at WKRS 1220 AM and was instrumental in beginning the local sports coverage on then U.S. Cable of Lake County, now AT&T Cable Television of Northeast Illinois. Ryan served as a volunteer coach at Our Lady of Humility School in Zion and was an avid golfer.

Spangler, a Gurnee resident, is training for the 2000 Olympics as a marathon runner. In 1996, Spangler participated in the U.S. Olympic women's marathon in Atlanta, Ga.

Employed at Trustmark Insurance Company in Lake Forest, Spangler earned a bachelor's degree in computer science and master's degree in business administration from the University of Iowa.

Earning NCAA Track and Field All-American status in the 10,000 meter run in 1982 and 1983 and cross country All-American in 1983 are among Spangler's college achievements.

In 1984 and 1988, Spangler participated in the U.S. Olympic marathon trials, competing in the 1996 Olympics. Among highlights of her post-collegiate career, Spangler finished first in the 1996 Olympic marathon trials at Columbia, S.C. and second in the 1984 Houston-Tenneco marathon in Texas.

Spangler was inducted into the University of Iowa's Women's Track and Field Hall of Fame in 1987. Spangler is recipient of the Chicago Area Runner's Association Gold Medal Award.

Keith Ryan's legacy continues to live on

Scholarship fund aids 12 students

The Keith Ryan Scholarship Fund bears the name of a courageous sportscaster, coach and gentleman.

Keith spent nearly a quarter of a century promoting local sports in the Lake County area.

A true, local sports talent and communicator, Keith's enthusiasm for life was contagious to all he touched.

A broadcasting career for Keith began at age 16 when he was hired by his brother-in-law for a non-paying night disc jockey job at WBUT in Butler, Pa.

From there, Keith moved on to positions at WLEU in Erie, Pa. and KLOU in Lake Charles, La. Beginning in 1955, Keith worked two years as the afternoon disc jockey at WHOT in Youngstown, Ohio. Stopping briefly in Nashville, Tenn. at WKDA, Cincinnati, Ohio at WLKY and in Maine at WSME, Keith came to his adopted home, Lake County, at WKRS 1220 AM in Waukegan in 1964.

Following 11 years of being the "voice" of Lake County sports on WKRS, Keith left radio for a position with the Regional Transportation Authority (RTA). In 1981, the RTA position was eliminated due to cutbacks. That proved good news for Lake County sports.

Keith came aboard at then U.S. Cable of Lake County as the Star Channel's first sportscaster. Pioneering cable television telecasts of high school sports, Keith was instrumental in bringing area athletics to a new level. As part of his duties at U.S. Cable, Keith hosted the Sports Talk program. Within that format, Keith interviewed local sports personalities as well as national celebrities.

On Feb. 23, 1989, following the 1st Annual Keith Ryan Scholarship Fund and Sports Banquet dinner, Keith lost a 15-month-long bout with cancer. At the first dinner, Keith was the featured honoree. Nearly every Lake County high school awarded Keith "honorary" school varsity letters for his work with area athletics.

The first dinner in May, 1988, instituted the annual $1,000 scholarship award. The award is presented to a Lake County High School graduate interested in pursuing a career in media or communications fields. The scholarship is available to a student attending the College of Lake County.

Besides his on-mike and on-camera work with athletics, Keith was a football coach at Our Lady of Humility Catholic Grade School in Zion for many years.

Keith's love for athletics and his legacy continue to live on.

On April 29, 1989, Keith was posthumously inducted into the Illinois Basketball Coaches Hall of Fame at Illinois State University in Normal as a media contributor.

An avid golfer, Keith enjoyed getting out on area links as often as his schedule permitted.

The love of athletics and life which were exemplified in Keith's life continues with his legacy being passed on through the Keith Ryan Scholarship Fund. To date, a dozen young people from Lake County have been assisted by Keith's scholarship.

This ensures that the spirit of Keith and his love for athletics, as well as securing its place in Lake County, lives on.

Ryan: the broadcaster; class act for class man

Some of us are fortunate enough to work with a legend.

This is the case for this editor.

Having worked with Keith in the early days of his cable television telecasts of high school athletics was an education in and of itself.

Keith was always optimistic. Professional. Keeping personal loyalties from coming through.

Each game was treated as the super bowl, world series or NBA finals. Each athlete treated with the same dignity as if he or she were a pro bowler. Each coach as if a professional hall of famer.

Regardless of his friendships with a particular coach, athletic director or even athlete, once the ball was teed up or tossed at the center circle, or that first pitch was thrown, Keith was now "the professional telecaster."

This was evident no matter what the score. Keith approached the athletes with the greatest respect and admiration. If they made a fumble or missed a shot, you could not tell it in Keith's voice. Always one to stress the positive, Keith would show that in his commentary. It was the same if it was a "last second upset" or an "expected" lopsided victory.

Growing up listening to Keith's Saturday morning replay broadcasts, it was always fun, especially when the Warhawks were playing. (I admit I'm a 1975 graduate of North Chicago Community High School).

Even those great regional finals which Keith was a part of, describing the overflow crowds in the gymnasiums, to the last shot. The following jubilation of the victors and the agony of those on the short end. Keith dealt with both ends of the spectrum with the utmost class and dignity.

Each broadcast or telecast was a classic with a class act. That is the privilege of having worked with Keith Ryan.

WAUKEGAN LION'S CLUB HALL OF FAME

A 1967 Waukegan Township High School graduate, David Aho was a rare double all-state selection in both soccer and baseball. Aho attained the honors in fall of 1966 and spring of 1967, respectively.

In 1966, soccer was in its second season at Waukegan when Dave was recognized for being all-state. That makes the honor even more of an outstanding accomplishment.

Best known for his being an outstanding right-handed pitcher, Dave accumulated some noticeable statistics. While helping lead the Bulldogs to the 1967 state baseball finals appearance, Dave compiled a 11-1 record, striking out 154 and having a 0.56 earned run average.

That senior season led Dave to a four-year scholarship to Northwestern University, lettering in baseball all four seasons and serving as team co-captain.

Prior to moving on to an outstanding career in the corporate world, Dave starred for the Kenosha Pirates and Waukegan's entry in the Shoreline Baseball League.

Healthcare Alliance Inc. a healthcare consulting company in Lake Forest where Dave lives, is where he hangs his hat, serving as vice president of business development and legal affairs.

Prior to that, Dave was corporate vice president and chairman of the corporate responsibility office at Baxter International, where he held numerous positions from 1978-1996. Dave began his healthcare career as a tax counsel for Abbott Laboratories in 1977.

In 1978, Dave assumed a similar position at American Hospital Supply Corporation (AHSC). In 1980, Dave moved to Washington, D.C. running the governmental affairs function for AHSC as vice president. Joining Baxter in 1985, following the merger with AHSC, Dave was promoted to corporate vice president in 1989, managing all state, federal and international legal issues.

While playing baseball at Northwestern, Dave was busy in the classroom as well, earning a bachelor of arts degree. Add a juris doctorate from John Marshall Law School. Dave is a member of the American, Illinois, District of Columbia and Lake County Bar Associations and is a registered lobbyist.

In addition, Dave is past chairman of the Economic Development Commission of Lake County, mediator of the National Health Lawyers Association, former deputy treasurer of the State of Illinois (1972-1977), Wetlands Foundation board member and the four year University Selection Committee for Lake County.

WAUKEGAN LION'S CLUB HALL OF FAME

Papa Hawk" earned his early education attending schools in North Chicago.

Larry Hanzel, born Jan. 16, 1927, in Waukegan, attended Holy Family Catholic Grade School (now Lakeshore Catholic Academy) and Central (now Hart) School, both in North Chicago.

At Waukegan High School, as there was no North Chicago High School yet, Larry was a three sport star in football, basketball and baseball.

In 1945, Larry joined the U.S. Army Paratroopers for 18 months. In 1946, Larry earned all-state football honors as a halfback. In the fall of 1947, Larry became a Badger, playing four seasons of football. Proving to be a versatile player, Larry played both quarterback and fullback on offense, starring as a defensive back.

Upon graduation from Wisconsin in 1952 with a teaching degree in physical education, Larry briefly taught at Evanston High School before coming back home to North Chicago. Following two years of grade school teaching, Larry joined the faculty and coaching staffs of North Chicago Community High School (NCCHS) in 1954.

During his tenure at NCCHS, "Papa Hawk," as he became known, served one season as head football coach and 11 as head boys varsity basketball coach.

It was during the little over a decade while Larry oversaw the basketball program that he instituted "the Hanzel shuffle" offense and tenacious man to man defense which brought the Warhawks considerable success. During his reign, the Hawks were known among the elite teams to beat in Lake County, and highly touted throughout the state.

In addition to basketball and football, Coach Hanzel had stints coaching baseball, badminton and girls' basketball. Serving as NCCHS athletic director for a dozen years before retiring in 1987, Hanzel accumulated 34 1/2 years of service in education.

Even today, Hanzel can be found from time to time substitute teaching at various schools in Lake County. That is, when he is not on the golf course. In his "retirement," Larry is working at Bonnie Brook Golf Course in Waukegan.

Larry and his wife, Marilyn, live in Waukegan, having five children (Laurie, Rich, Steve, Christopher and Mary Jo) and 10 grandchildren.

WAUKEGAN LION'S CLUB HALL OF FAME

Born August 10, 1910, Ed has been a lifelong resident of Waukegan.

"Minnow" Manoian earned his notoriety as the pre-eminent fast pitch softball pitcher of his era in Lake County.

While playing for a number of Lake County area teams, Ed tossed 13 combined no hitter shutouts. Being the winning pitcher on three Lake County and one Illinois State championship teams is included in his achievements.

The crowning jewel for Ed was pitching for Innocenzi's Grocery of Highwood, taking them to the 1939 Illinois State Championship sponsored by the Chicago Herald-American and played at Mills Stadium in Chicago.

Lake County titles for Ed came in 1933 for Dominic and Jim's, 1934 for Bart Tyrell Boosters and 1936 for Silver Hardware.

One other noteworthy pitching performance came in 1932 when "Minnow" fanned 19 batters while on the mound for Mother of God Church in the Illinois State Tournament. Unfortunately, it was a losing effort as Aurora Paper defeated Mother of God 1-0.

Before enlisting in the U.S. Navy in 1942, "Minnow" concluded his illustrious pitching career spending five seasons for the American Steel and Wire Company in the State Classic League. During the '39 season, while with American, he pitched three consecutive no-hitters, ringing up 19 batters in one of those games. One of the wins was a cherished 3-0 shutout over defending Wisconsin State Champion Western Printers of Racine.

Ed and his wife, Elaine, have three children, Dan, Judy (Dick) Dembinsky and Barbara (Mike) Burke, five grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

An avid bowler since giving up the mound, Ed enjoys golf as well. "Minnow's" sharp pitching eye is just as good on the golf course. A scratch golfer, Minnow has six holes-in-one to his credit.

Grayslake interior designer loves her job

It takes a sharp eye to know just what a room needs to come to life. Barbara Bertler, owner of Window & Wall Concepts in Grayslake, has that skill and many others.

After earning a degree in design from the University of Wisconsin in 1982, she worked for a drapery and blind manufacturer in California, then moved back to her home town, Chicago, to become a designer for Bloomingtondale's.

But working for someone else was not her calling. In 1989, Bertler opened Window & Wall Concepts on Route 83 in Grayslake.

"I basically felt I had the know how and confidence to start my own business," she said.

At the time, her store was only 500 square feet and she worked alone. Today the business, that has moved to 827 E. Center Street, is 2,000-square-feet and has grown to maintain one part-time and two full-time employees.

Enter Bertler's showroom and you feel right at home. On display are the latest styles in window and wall treatments. We excel in custom draperies. Top treatments, blinds, wall coverings, slip covers, reupholstery, and coordinating room accessories.

Proper window treatments coordinated with wall coverings can become the most effective elements in a room's decor, said Bertler. She regularly works with customers who want to give a new look to an existing room as well as with new homeowners who are starting from scratch.

"We have a loyal clientele in part due to our service," said Bertler. "Instead of just selling a product, we treat people as family."

Most of the clientele is within 20 minutes of our Grayslake showroom, however, projects do take us to Chicago as well as the North and South suburbs. Many homes in Grayslake's new subdivisions reflect her decorating skills.

Bertler has also designed the interiors of a variety of local businesses, including Gilardi's Restaurant in Half Day, the Grayslake Chamber of Commerce, the Northside Community Bank in Gurnee, and several Burger Kings in Lake County.

This past February, the store celebrated its 10th anniversary. Now Bertler is making plans for the next decade. She is looking into the possibility of manufacturing draperies to offer customers a quicker turn-around and is considering moving her business into a house to showcase her products in a comfortable home environment.

She loves her job.

"I enjoy meeting new people and being able to create a warm personalized environment for them to live-in," Bertler said.

Lynn teaches love of horses

Everyone who knows Lynn Miller knows of her love for horses and how she manifests that love through teaching.

At Miller's Farm, located next to the Bong State Park in Brighton, Wis. Lynn, her husband Ted, and her friend and teaching partner, Sara DeVito, run a boarding stable and riding school.

Lynn's love affair with those beautiful four-legged animals began not long after she was born, so after taking time off for college, getting married to Ted and raising their 18-year-old son, Michael, the idea of Miller's Farm, came to fruition 12 years ago. Sara became a part of the Miller venture last year.

Working in an indoor riding rink 160 by 60 feet, located on 13 lovely acres of groomed trails, Lynn and Sara focus on building their riding student's self confidence and safety awareness, teaching them to communicate with their horses.

Both teachers are HFA Certified by the Horsemanship Safety Assn. and they are also certified in Level 1 Parelli Natural Horsemanship.

They have a children's riding class where the parents can watch their offspring learn to ride. Lynn and Sara have both women's and men's groups attending classes, giving Miller's Farm a real family atmosphere.

At present the Millers and Sara own 15 horses, 10 to 12 horses are used in the riding classes. Of these, there are quarter horses, some paints, Ponies of America and one Arab.

Working moms a valuable resource to employers

Temporary employment has been a convenient source of income for many of today's at-home mothers. A woman can choose where she works, when she works, and how often she works, often tailoring her employment schedule to meet the demands of her job as a full-time mom.

More and more of Manpower jobs offer flexible schedules—including part-time hours, job sharing and time off for school holidays—as incentives for moms who wish to return to or remain in the job market. These opportunities are available in a variety of settings—including offices, laboratories and factories.

Manpower offers women—especially those who are entering the workforce for the first time or re-entering the workforce after an extended absence—an even more attractive benefit: free training programs for employees and qualified applicants.

Charles R. Bartels, area manager of Manpower in Lake and McHenry counties points out that rapidly changing technology has changed the way work is done in the office and that even women with previous office experience may need re-training to update their skills.

"Today's office workers, for example, need to master an array of automated equipment that has changed the way they do their jobs. These changes in office technology mean that some workers may need to obtain training for the computer skills businesses need before they go to work."

To meet this need, Manpower offers its employees the opportunity to upgrade their office skills with Skillware, the company's office automation training program. "Anyone with basic office skills can get up to speed on the latest office hardware and software in just a day to two with our hands-on training," says Bartels.

Manpower Health Care salutes Shirley Jarrell

Shirley Jarrell has been with Manpower Health Care for four years, and is currently Staffing Supervisor. Part of her work—her favorite part—is to interview job candidates in the health care field and match them with work they will really like—and which fits their schedules. The fact that many of Manpower Health Care's employees have been with the company for several years or more is proof she is a great "match-maker."

Many of the candidates Shirley recruits and interviews are veterans of military service. Shirley is herself an Army veteran, having served as a medic at the U.S. Military Academy at West Point.

Shirley also enjoys talking to customers who are seeking health care professionals. In fact, before Shirley joined the Manpower staff, she was a customer herself—at Caregivers' Home Health, Mundelein.

Dan Rodriguez, director of health care for Manpower, says that in addition to her excellent work, he appreciates Shirley's positive attitude, great smile and her "effervescence."

Lake County High Schools Sports Hall of Fame

The idea for a Lake County High Schools Sports Hall of Fame was initiated by the Keith Ryan Scholarship Committee to recognize and honor individuals for their contributions to their high schools and communities. Its purpose is to provide present and future students with a sense of the rich tradition and heritage of high school athletics, and to promote the accomplishments of the school to the outside community. Working in cooperation with Lake County high schools and their athletic directors, the committee developed the following criteria for Hall of Fame consideration.

The nominee: Must be a graduate of a Lake County high school. Must be in good standing with his/her respective high school, its athletic department and the community it serves during the athlete's high school years and beyond. May be nominated in his/her 5th year after graduation from high school. In addition, one or more of the following are required: Named to an All-Chicago area team or higher. Earned a place in their sport's state meet/tournament. Named to their sport's hall of fame. Achieved an outstanding athletic accomplishment outside of the high school while still in high school. Achieved a noteworthy career accomplishment unrelated to athletic participation.

Note: Priority will be given to those who have gone on to play at the collegiate or professional level or have used their skills to give something back to the community in helping citizens and youth develop athletically or academically. A nominee must be approved by the administration of the selecting high school.

The Lake County High Schools Sports Hall of Fame is housed in the Lake County Technology Campus in Grayslake which serves all the high schools in the county.

How To Survive The Job Search

By Nancy Sakol

Q: Dear...Search,
I have this terrible embarrassing problem when it comes to interviewing. I get so nervous that every time I reach out to shake the employer's hand, my hands are so incredibly sweaty. I want to avoid shaking hands at all costs, yet I don't want to appear disrespectful by not doing so. I am sure that my problem is not uncommon. S.D. -Lindenhurst

A: Dear S.D.,
You are not alone by any means. So hints to solve that problem may be to hold a handkerchief in your pocket or hands while interviewing to absorb the perspiration, or to purchase what is known as a rosin bag (used most often by bowlers) and keep it in your pocket. NOTE: Let's poll the readers...if you have had an embarrassing moment during an interview, we want to hear from you. You can e-mail to PLACEM1@aol.com.

Dear Ms. Sakol,
I always enjoy "How to Survive the Job Search" in Lakeland Newspapers. You are able to get to the point quickly in the short space allotted. I think the placement of your column in the job section of the paper is an excellent idea, and probably increases readership by the people that most need to read your column-job seekers. In a region where there are more jobs than good employees, yours is an interesting column that enables us all to learn from the mistakes of others. Thank you for your valuable service. M.F. - Round Lake Beach (via e-mail)

Dear M.F.
Thank you for your e-mail. I want to tell you that your letter in itself was inspiring and therefore I chose to write you direct. Hard as I try to answer all of my mail, your letter made me immediately stop what I was doing to let you know that I truly appreciate your feedback and hope I can continue to have you among my readership. I further hope the time will not come where you will need my professional services, however if you find yourself thinking about making a career change, please keep me in mind. Thank you again for your kind words.

* Coming November 1, 1999...Check out our web site www.superiorpersonnel.com
